

Contents

|   |           |
|---|-----------|
| Introduction  | ix        |
| Section I: Constructing Worlds   | 1  |
| 1 Burton's Bowl: Constructions of Space in the Films of Tim BurtonJeffrey Andrew Weinstock                               | 3         |
| 2 The Abject, Carnavalesque, and UncannyFran Pheasant-Kelly  | 15        |
| 3 The Dark and the Darker: The Meaning and Significance ofDark and Light Colors in Tim Burton FilmsOrsolya Karácsony | 29        |
| 4 Traces of Surrealism in the Work of Tim BurtonSabine Planka  | 39        |
| 5 Tim Burton's Artists of DeathElsa Colombani  | 47        |
| 6 The Interconnectivity of Elfman's Film Scoring and Burton'sNarrativeAndrew S. Powell                               | 57        |
| Section II: Fairy Worlds and Nightmares  | 71 |
| 7 Nightmares and the Struggle for Existence in Alice inWonderland and Planet of the ApesAntonio Sanna | 73        |
| 8 Reading Burton's The Nightmare Before Christmas with PaulTillichChristopher M. Cuthill                      | 89        |

|    |  |            |
|----|--|------------|
| 9  | Deconstructing (and Reconstructing) the Fairy Tale in Tim Burton's The Nightmare Before Christmas and Corpse BrideAlissa Burger | 107        |
| 10 | Mars Attacks! as Fractured Fairy Tale under Tolkien's Principles of Recovery, Escape, and ConsolationNicole Pramik                     | 117        |
| 11 | The Heroic Journey of Ed WoodCarl Sobocinski  | 127        |
| 12 | The Paranormal Hero as a Boundary-CrosserMaria Dicieanu   | 139        |
| 13 | Miss Peregrine's : New Home for a Peculiar ProblemTrip McCrossin   | 149        |
|    | Section III: Identity and the World   | 159 |
| 14 | A Colonial Tapestry: Race and Ideology in Pee-wee's Big AdventureFlorent Christol  | 161        |
| 15 | Willy Wonka as a Contemporary DandyRadosław Osiński   | 173        |
| 16 | Batman, Burton, and the Puzzle of IdentityKyle Alkema and Adam Barkman  | 185        |
| 17 | Fools on the Hill: Tim Burton's Nietzschean Outcasts and Heidegger's das ManSiobhan Lyons  | 195        |
| 18 | "My Whole Life Is a Dark Room": Nostalgia and Domesticity in Beetlejuice and Edward ScissorhandsRenee Middlemost                | 207        |
| 19 | Tim Burton and the Determinist ImpulseBrent Peters and Adam Barkman   | 221        |
| 20 | Doll Doubles: Female Identity in Tim Burton's Stop-Motion FilmsDonna Mitchell   | 231        |
|    | Index  | 241        |
|    | About the Contributors   | 245        |