

Compressed Development

Time and Timing in Economic and Social Development

D. HUGH WHITTAKER
TIMOTHY J. STURGEON
TOSHIE OKITA
TIANBIAO ZHU

OXFORD
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Contents

List of Figures	xiii
List of Tables	xv
Compressed Development: An Introduction	1
Organizing framework and interdisciplinary approach	5
Late development and compressed development	9
Some conceptual refinements	11
Outline of the chapters	14
1. CONCEPTUALIZING COMPRESSED DEVELOPMENT
1. Time Compression: From Stages to Simultaneity	21
Introduction	21
Industrialization	23
The service sector and 'out-of-sequence' sectoral shifts	34
Demographics and social compression	40
Concluding comments	44
2. Eras: States and Markets	46
Introduction	46
The state and economic development in historical perspective	49
Markets, finance, and financialization	57
Concluding comments	65
3. Eras: Organizations and Technology	67
Introduction	67
Techno-economic periods and organizational paradigms	69
The crisis of Fordism and the rise of the network model	76
A 'new' digital economy?	85
Concluding comments	88
2. EXPERIENCES OF COMPRESSED DEVELOPMENT
4. China's and Japan's Divergent Institutions	93
Introduction	93
Japan as a late developer	96
China as a compressed developer	101
Education and skills	106
Concluding comments	111

5. Varieties of Compressed Development	113
Introduction	113
China's emergence as the world's most successful compressed developer	120
Other country experiences with compressed development	127
Implications for industrial policy	133
Concluding comments	135
6. Employment, Skills, and Upgrading	139
Introduction	139
The 'middle-income-trap' debate	142
Employment relations and 'standard employment'	144
Informal and nonregular employment in the era of compressed development	148
Politics of dualism and upgrading	154
Concluding comments	156
7. Social policy: Education as a New Frontier of Compression	159
Introduction	159
Double challenges in health and education	161
'Era' influences: global alignment of education policy and global testing culture	166
Actor proliferation and centrifugal forces	171
Chinese education challenges revisited	175
Policy stretch and policy integration	178
Concluding comments	179
 3. NAVIGATING COMPRESSED DEVELOPMENT
8. The Adaptive (Developmental) State	185
Introduction	185
The developmental state: dismantled or transformed?	188
Multilevel governance and local developmentalism: the case of China	193
'Fast cities'	199
Bringing civil society in	201
Concluding comments	203
9. Are We All Compressed Developers?	205
Introduction	205
Co-evolution and compression: the United States and Japan	208
The digital economy: winner take most, or lowering barriers to innovation?	214
States, markets, and geopolitics	222
Conclusion: on convergence and compression	228
Afterword: The End of Compressed Development?	230
References	235
Index	271