

FUTILE DIPLOMACY

VOLUME THREE

THE UNITED NATIONS,
THE GREAT POWERS, AND
MIDDLE EAST
PEACEMAKING 1948–1954

NEIL/CAPLAN

FRANK CASS

Contents

Documents	ix
List of Illustrations	x
Abbreviations	xi
Acknowledgements	xiii
Introduction: Approaching the Subject	xv
Scope and Sources: Making Choices · Working with the Documents · Objectivity and Subjectivity
I Historical and Psychological Context	1
Lessons from the Mandate Period · Changing Structure and Dynamics of the Post-1948 Conflict · Forms of Third-Party Intervention in the Arab–Israeli Dispute · The Maze of Mutual Perceptions and Misperceptions
II War and Mediation, 1948	17
Bernadotte’s ‘Suggestions’, 27 June 1948 · Direct Negotiations · The Bernadotte Plan, September 1948: Acquiescence versus Agreement · Patterns and Precedents
III Egypt and Israel at Rhodes	34
United Nations Peacemaking: Two Tracks · From Truce to Armistice · Getting to the Table · Opening of Talks Breakthrough: Signing the Armistice Agreement From Armistice to Peace?
IV The Lausanne Conference: Prenegotiation	57
The Palestine Conciliation Commission · Preparing the Ground · Shuttle Diplomacy · Quest for an Advance Gesture from Israel · PCC Beirut Conference, March 1949 Continuing Pressure for an Israeli Gesture · The Shadow of Rhodes · Strains in the Arab Common Front

V	Manoeuvring at Lausanne Opening the Conference · A Basis for Discussion: The Lausanne Protocol, 12 May 1949 · Staking Out the Positions: The First Deadlock · Israel's Offer to Incorporate the Gaza Strip	76
VI	Lausanne: The Final Stalemate July Recess · Resumption of the Conference · Israel's Offer to Repatriate 100,000 Refugees · Continued Conciliation or Imposed Settlement? · Winding up the Conference · Lausanne Postscripts	101
VII	Geneva Interlude Years of Drift · From Conciliation to Mediation? · Bilateral Negotiations · PCC Geneva Meetings, January–July 1950	127
VIII	Deterioration of the Armistice From Negative Peace to Positive Peace? · Beginnings of the Arms Race · Regional Stability and Arms Control: The Tripartite Declaration, May 1950 · The Entrenchment of Israeli and Arab Positions · Piecemeal Approaches: 'Knitting Tissue' over the Wound	145
IX	PCC Paris Conference, Autumn 1951 From Atrophy to Activity: Ely Palmer, the State Department, and the PCC Initiative · Preparing the Conference · The Conference Begins · The PCC's Comprehensive Pattern of Proposals	162
X	The Paris Conference and the Demise of PCC Mediation Draft Non-aggression Formulae · From Preamble to Proposals Paris Deadlock and the General Assembly · The Final Sessions: 14 November 1951 · The Demise of the PCC and United Nations Mediation	185
XI	The United Nations and Direct Negotiations, 1952–1953 The Seventh General Assembly (1952): Eight-Power Draft Resolution · Changes during 1953: Qibya and Israeli–Jordanian Tensions · The Israeli Call for Direct Negotiations: November 1953	212

CONTENTS	vii
XII The United Nations Conference that Never Was, 1953–54	230
Invoking Article XII: The First Stages · Arab Reactions to International Pressure · Responses to Jordan's Refusal · Aftermath · An Assessment
Conclusion	257
Assessment of the Arab–Israeli Impasse · Approaches to Conflict Resolution · American Leverage on the Parties Techniques of Conciliation · The Attitudes and Positions of the Parties · From War to War
Documents	279
Notes	301
Bibliography	367
Index	384