

CONTENTS

List of Figures and Tables vii

Notes on Contributors xi

Acknowledgements xiii

- CHAPTER 1 Speech Representation in the History of English: Introduction 1
Peter J. Grund and Terry Walker
- CHAPTER 2 Before Quotation Marks: Quotative Parentheses in Early Printed Books 29
Colette Moore
- CHAPTER 3 Initiating Direct Speech in Early Modern English Prose Fiction and Witness Depositions 51
Ursula Lutzky
- CHAPTER 4 Reconfiguring Quotation over Time and the System-Internal Rise of BE Like 73
Alexandra D'Arcy
- CHAPTER 5 The Metalinguistic Description of Speech and Fictional Language: Exploring Speech Reporting Verbs and Speech Descriptors in Late Modern English 102
Peter J. Grund
- CHAPTER 6 Clearer Contours: The Stylisation of Free Indirect Speech in Nineteenth-Century Fiction 131
Lieven Vandelanotte
- CHAPTER 7 Free Indirect Speech, Slipping, or a System in Flux? Exploring the Continuum between Direct and Indirect Speech in Early Modern English 156
Terry Walker and Peter J. Grund

CHAPTER 8 “Saying thes woordes or the lyke”: Speech
Representation in Sixteenth-Century
Correspondence 183
Mel Evans

CHAPTER 9 Discourse Representation in Early Modern English
Historiography 212
Claudia Claridge

Index 239