

Contents

Preface	xi
1. Why Be Anticapitalist?	1
What is capitalism?	3
Grounds for opposing capitalism	5
Normative foundations	9
Equality/fairness	9
Democracy/freedom	15
Community/solidarity	18
2. Diagnosis and Critique of Capitalism	23
Equality/fairness	24
Class and exploitation	25
Competition and risk	25
Disruptive economic growth	26
Democracy/freedom	28
Community/solidarity	31
Skepticism	35
3. Varieties of Anticapitalism	37
Strategic logics	38
Smashing capitalism	38
Dismantling capitalism	42
Taming capitalism	44

CONTENTS

Resisting capitalism	49
Escaping capitalism	51
Strategic configurations	53
Eroding capitalism	59
4. The Destination beyond Capitalism:
Socialism as Economic Democracy	65
A power-centered concept of socialism	68
Building blocks of a democratic socialist economy	71
Unconditional basic income	73
The cooperative market economy	75
The social and solidarity economy	79
Democratizing capitalist firms	81
Banking as a public utility	83
Nonmarket economic organization	85
State provision of goods and services	85
Peer-to-peer collaborative production	88
The knowledge commons	90
Back to the problem of strategy	92
5. Anticapitalism and the State	95
The problem of the capitalist state	96
Internal contradictions of the state	98
Contradictory, contested functionality	100
Prospects	105
Democratizing the state	111
Democratically empowered decentralization	113
New forms of citizen participation	113
New institutions for democratic representation	115
Democratizing electoral rules of the game	116

CONTENTS

6. Agents of Transformation	119
Collective actors for eroding capitalism	120
The problem of collective agency	122
The concept of “agency”	122
Identities	125
Interests	129
Values	131
From identities, interests and values to collective actors	133
Overcoming privatized lives	134
Fragmented class structures	135
Competing sources of identity	137
Real politics	139
Afterword by Michael Burawoy	147