

Contents

Preface and Acknowledgements	viii
Introduction: Greek and Roman Presences in the Modern American Novel	I
1. Willa Cather (1873–1946)	16
Cather and the Classics	16
The Critical Field and Scholarly Debate	20
My Ántonia (1918)	23
The Professor's House (1925)	29
Sapphira and the Slave Girl (1940)	35
2. F. Scott Fitzgerald (1896–1940)	47
Fitzgerald and the Classics	47
The Critical Field and Scholarly Debate	52
This Side of Paradise (1920)	54
The Great Gatsby (1925)	60
Tender Is the Night (1934)	66
3. William Faulkner (1897–1962)	79
Faulkner and the Classics	79
The Critical Field and Scholarly Debate	84
Light in August (1932)	88
Absalom, Absalom! (1936)	94
Go Down, Moses (1942)	101
4. Ralph Ellison (1913–94)	111
Ellison and the Classics	111
The Critical Field and Scholarly Debate	117
Invisible Man (1952)	121
Three Days Before the Shooting . . . Part I (2010)	127
Three Days Before the Shooting . . . Part II: ‘Hickman in Washington DC’ (2010)	133

5. Toni Morrison (1931–2019)	143
Morrison and the Classics	143
The Critical Field and Scholarly Debate	147
Song of Solomon (1977)	151
Beloved (1987)	156
Jazz (1992)	161
6. Philip Roth (1933–2018)	170
Roth and the Classics	170
The Critical Field and Scholarly Debate	175
American Pastoral (1997)	179
I Married a Communist (1998)	184
The Human Stain (2000)	189
7. Marilynne Robinson (1943–)	197
Robinson and the Classics	197
The Critical Field and Scholarly Debate	202
Housekeeping (1980)	205
Gilead (2004)	211
Home (2008)	213
Conclusion: The Diversity of Modern American Fiction's Classicism	223
Appendices	230
Glossary of Classical Terms Used in this Book	230
Resources on Classical Antiquity	242
Works Cited	244
Index	268