

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Foreword	VII
-----------------	-----

PART ONE : INTRODUCTION

I. The Shift to the Subject in Modern Thought	3
II. Hegel's Prefatory Notion of Subjectivity	13
III. Consciousness and Reality	23

PART TWO : THE CONSCIOUS SUBJECT

IV. The Initial Transaction between the Subject and its Object	33
V. The Perceiving Subject	44
VI. The Understanding Subject	57

PART THREE : THE SELF-CONSCIOUS SUBJECT

VII. The Rise of the Self-Conscious Subject	81
VIII. Freedom and Dependence of the Self-Conscious Subject	94
IX. The Self-Estranged Subject	108

PART FOUR : THE RATIONAL SUBJECT

X. The Activity of the Rational Subject	133
XI. The Self-Examination of the Rational Subject	154
XII. The Self-Realization of the Rational Subject	174
XIII. The Triumph of the Rational Subject	190

PART FIVE : THE SPIRITUAL SUBJECT

XIV.	The Rise of the Personal Subject	207
XV.	The Dual Life of the Spiritual Subject	221
XVI.	The Moral Subject	241
XVII.	The Subject's Final Quest for Spirituality	258

EPILOGUE

Retrospect and Prospect	277
Index	280