

CONTENTS

Foreword	7
Introduction	9
Chapter I
Leibniz and the scholastic (mediaeval) tradition	17
Chapter II
“The same accident cannot inhere in things numerically different”: the relation as an accident	35
Chapter III
The foundation of the relation (fundamentum relationis) and the change of the related subjects	49
Chapter IV
Leibniz’ logico-grammatical analyses of relational sentences	57
Chapter V
Relations in the field of geometria situs	85
Chapter VI
Relations and relational predicates	93
Chapter VII
Relations and relational predicates as “merely mental things” and as “real objective things” at once	111
Conclusions	133
Appendices
1. Circa Geometrica Generalia	139
2. De partibus orationis	148
3. Johann Vaquetius’ demonstration of the inference a rectis ad obliqua and Leibniz’ exemplification	152
4. Notes on Aloys Temmik’s Philosophia vera theologiae et medicinae ministra	154
Works cited	165
Temmik’s text	169