

Contents

Preface and Acknowledgments	vii
Introduction: Civil Religion and the Anglo- and African American Jeremiads	1
1 Frederick Douglass's Antebellum Jeremiad against Slavery and Racism	15
2 The Brief Life of Douglass's "New Nation": From Emancipation–Reconstruction to Returning Declension, 1861–1895	33
3 The Jeremiad in the Age of Booker T. Washington: Washington versus Ida B. Wells, 1895–1915	53
4 Great Expectations: W. E. B. Du Bois's American Jeremiad in the Progressive Era	90
5 Mary McLeod Bethune and W. E. B. Du Bois: Rising and Waning Hopes for America at Midcentury	115
6 Martin Luther King, Jr., and America's Promise in the Second Reconstruction, 1955–1965	139
7 Malcolm X: Jeremiah to Blacks, Damner of Whites—to the End?	161
8 King's Radical Jeremiad, 1965–1968: America as the "Sick Society"	185
Conclusion: The Enduring Black Jeremiad	217
Notes	229
Index	269