

CONTENTS

Preface ix

Part One: Formative Historical Junctures 1

1. The Fact and Nature of Art in the Early Church 3
 - Scriptural Interpretations* 4
 - The Church Fathers and Art* 6
 - Art in the Pre-Constantinian Church* 8
 - Art in the Post-Constantinian Church* 20
2. Medieval, Renaissance, and Lutheran Developments 35
 - The Carolingian View of Art* 36
 - Bernard of Clairvaux, Abbot Suger, and Bonaventure* 38
 - Renaissance Art: Michelangelo, Raphael, Grünewald* 44
 - Dürer, Cranach, and the Lutheran Development* 50
3. Iconoclastic Movements—Variations on a Theme 56
 - Eastern Iconoclasm* 57
 - Iconoclasm and the Reformers of the North* 61
 - Iconoclasm in England* 72
 - The Sack of Rome* 74
4. The Baroque—Roman Catholic and Protestant 75
 - Contours of the Baroque* 75
 - Rubens and Bernini* 83
 - Rembrandt* 90
 - Catholic and English Directions* 99
5. The Nineteenth Century and Its Diverse Directions 103
 - Roman Catholic Art in France: Eugène Delacroix and Edouard Manet* 103
 - Seeking New Directions: Caspar David Friedrich* 105

	Controversial Christian Works: Paul Gauguin and James Ensor	111
	Christian Subjects in the United States and England	116
	Expressionism as a Religious Medium	121
Part Two: The Twentieth Century		127
6.	Perceptions of the Spirit in American Painting and Sculpture	129
	The Cultural/Theological Setting	129
	The Struggle for New Perspectives	131
	Diverse Perspectives and Directions	142
	The Abstract Expressionists: Their Formative Thrust	154
	Sculpture in the Abstract Tradition	167
	Painting and Sculpture in Recent Decades	172
7.	The Church, Art, and Architecture	192
	Church Art and Architecture	192
	Changing Architectural Styles: Bane or Blessing?	208
8.	Contemporary Theologians and the Visual Arts	215
	The Concern with Method and Pluralism	215
	The Divorce between Art and Theology	217
	Affirmations of a Relation between Art and Theology	219
	The Arts as Models for Theological Work	224
	Alternative Theological Models	227
Part Three: An Agenda		229
9.	Toward a Theology of Wider Sensibilities	231
	Defining the Human and Humanity's Vision	231
	Mystery and the Language of Theology	235
	Sense, Sensibility, and the Visual	239
	The Visual Arts and the Other Arts	245
	Theology Today	247
10.	Theological Education and the Reappropriation of the Visual	250
	An Agenda for Theological Education	252
	Photographic Credits	257
	List of Works of Art	260
	Indexes	269