

Contents

Preface to the Second Edition	9
Preface to the First Edition	11
Part I Faith and Theory	13
1 Some historical examples of control beliefs	15
2 The question posed	21
3 Radical harmonizing	23
4 Foundationalism	28
5 Difficulties in explaining what constitutes justification of theory by foundation	35
6 Difficulties in finding enough propositions to belong to the foundation	46
7 What has not been claimed	56
8 Will the Bible save foundationalism?	58
9 The structure of theory-weighting	63
10 Authentic Christian commitment	71
11 How authentic commitment ought to function in theorizing	76
12 The application of this theory of theorizing to theology	85
13 The impact of theorizing on commitment	92
14 Is faith a condition for knowledge?	98

15	Some unanswered questions	101
16	The need for theories which suggest research programs	105
17	The challenge	107
PART II	Theory and Praxis	109
18	Learning for shalom	111
19	Justifications for theorizing	117
20	Choice-principles for the scholar	128
21	Two alternative views	136
22	A concluding objection	144
Notes		147