

TABLE OF CONTENTS

PREFACE	xiii
INTRODUCTION	1
NOTES TO INTRODUCTION	7
CHAPTER I.    MARX'S ANTHROPOLOGY	9
A. The "Early" and the "Mature" Marx	9
B. Continuity within Discontinuity in Marx's Thought	11
C. Alienation in Popular Usage	19
D. Hegel's Usage of Alienation	23
E. Marx's Criticism of Hegel	26
F. Marx's Use of the Term "Alienation"	29
G. Religion, Atheism and False Consciousness	36
H. Marx's Concept of Human "Nature" ("Essence")	44
I. Communism, the Future Society and the End of Alienation: Marx's Utopian Vision	49
NOTES TO CHAPTER I	58
CHAPTER II.    MARX'S THEORY OF HISTORY	67
A. Premises for Transcending Alienation: History as Universal History	67
B. The Evolutionary Development of the Mode of Production	75
C. "Crude Communism" to "Final Communism:" De-alienation through History	79
D. The Class Struggle and the Proletarian Sense of Messianic Mission	82
E. Marx and Engels: Dialectical and Historical Materialism	90

F. Marx and Ethics	98
NOTES TO CHAPTER II	108
CHAPTER III    MARX'S WELTANSCHAUUNG AND THE GOD WHO IS PRO-HUMAN: TOWARDS A THEOLOGY OF THE CROSS	113
A. The Praxis of God and the Salvation of Humankind	113
B. Luther's Theologia Crucis : A Theology of Radical Reversal	133
C. Theologia Crucis contrasted with Theologia Gloriam	140
NOTES TO CHAPTER III	152
CHAPTER IV    PROCLAIMING AND "INCARNATING" THE GOSPEL: THE DOUBLE CRISES OF IDENTITY AND RELEVANCE	157
A. Moltmann's Trinitarian Political Theology of the Cross:
A Radical Concept of God	157
1. Political Theology of the Cross	158
2. Trinitarian Theology of the Cross	162
3. The "Unreligious" Cross in Christianity and the Critique of Religion as Ideology	168
4. Definition of Human Being	173
5. A Critique of Moltmann's Radical Concept of God	176
B. Liberation Theology: A Theology of Human Familyhood	180
1. Gustavo Gutiérrez: A Theology of the Neighbour	181
2. Matthew 25:31–46: Discourse on Christ in the Neighbour	184
3. Jon Sobrino: Christology of Radical Discipleship	186
4. Critique of the Concept of God in Liberation Theology	190
NOTES TO CHAPTER IV	198

CHAPTER V	CHRISTIANITY, MARXISM, AND THE CARIBBEAN	201
A.	Alienation, Marxism, and the Caribbean:
	A Challenge to the Church	202
	1. Alienation and the Caribbean Man and Woman:
	A Historical Overview	203
	2. Alienation and Pluralism	209
	3. Towards a More Specific Delineation of the Characteristics of Alienation in the Caribbean	215
B.	Doing Theology in the Caribbean: Caribbean Voices	219
	1. Paul G. Singh: On Synthesising Christianity and Socialism	221
	2. Michael Campbell-Johnston, S. J.: Christian-Socialism	224
	3. C. S. Reid: Towards Critical But Friendly Collaboration Between Christians and Marxists	226
	4. Idris Hamid: Towards a Theology of Human Development in the Caribbean	228
C.	Towards a Theology of Alienation and Reconciliation in the Caribbean	235
D.	Luther's Doctrine of the Two Kingdoms	242
	NOTES TO CHAPTER V	253
	CONCLUSION	261
	SELECT BIBLIOGRAPHY	267