

CONTENTS

	Page
I. INTRODUCTORY CHAPTERS	1
1. 1. Multa, sed non multum	3
1. 11. The Scope	3
1. 12. The Arena	4
1. 13. Methods and Sources	5
1. 131. Geological Science	5
1. 132. The Archaeological and Historical Sciences	6
1. 133. Literary Sources, Science and Folklore	8
1. 134. Philology	10
1. 2. Formation of Palestine and its Fauna in the Tertiary and in the Pleistocene	13
1. 21. Rise and Morphogenesis of Palestine	13
1. 22. The Faunal History of Palestine in the Tertiary Epoch	14
1. 23. The Faunal History of Palestine in the Pleistocene	18
1. 3. Early Men in Palestine	29
1. 31. Life and Hunt of the Mt. Carmel Man	29
1. 32. Life of the Natufians in Palestine	32
1. 33. The Dawn of Agriculture and Husbandry in the Natufian Age	35
II. ANCIENT ZOOLOGY IN THE MIDDLE EAST	39
2. 1. Animals in the Life of the Ancient Middle East	41
2. 11. Mammals	41
2. 12. Birds	53
2. 13. Reptiles and Amphibians	64
2. 14. Fishes and Fishery	68
2. 15. Terrestrial Anthropoids and other Vertebrates	72
2. 16. Marine and Fluvial Vertebrates	82
2. 2. The Animal in the Life of Ancient Mesopotamia	87
2. 21. Hunting and Zoological Parks	87
2. 22. Animals in Omina and Literature	92
2. 23. Mammals in the Art of Ancient Iraq	99
2. 231. Wild Mammals	99
2. 232. Other Animals in Ancient Art	104
2. 24. The Har-ra = Hubullu, the Oldest Book on Zoology	106
2. 25. Birds in Ancient Iraq	117
2. 3. The Animal in the Life of Ancient Egypt	122
2. 31. The Documents on Changes in the Faunal Composition	122
2. 32. Animal Mummies and Animal Cults in Egypt	125
2. 33. Actual Faunal Changes in Historical Times	129

	Page
2. 4. Graeco-Roman Zoology on the Fauna of the Middle East	131
2. 41. Aristotle	131
2. 42. Pliny	134
2. 43. Strabo	139
2. 44. Claudius Aelianus and Artemidorus of Daldus	144
2. 441. Aelian	144
2. 442. Artemidorus	146
 III. FROM THE NEOLITHICUM TO THE END OF THE IRON AGE (4500 to 3000 B.C.)	 149
3. 1. Neolithicum and Chalcolithicum	151
3. 11. The Neolithicum and the Chalcolithicum in Palestine	151
3. 12. The Chalcolithic Age in Palestine (Teleilat Ghassul)	151
3. 2. Phoenicia and Syria in the second Millennium B.C.	156
3. 21. Ugarit and its Culture	156
3. 22. The Tell Halaf	159
3. 3. The Egyptian Dominance in the second Millennium B.C.	163
3. 31. The Early Dynasties up to the Hyksos Period. The Novel of Sinuhe	163
3. 32. The Asiatic Expansion of the XVIIIth Dynasty	165
3. 33. The Latter Dynasties in Palestine	169
3. 4. A Survey of Conditions in Canaan during the Bronze and Iron Ages (3000 to 300 B.C.)	172
3. 5. Animals in the Excavations of the Bronze and Iron Ages in Palestine . .	177
3. 51. The Excavations of Gezer	177
3. 52. Tell Beit Mirsim and Tell Ta'annek	181
3. 53. The Tells along the Wadi Ghuzzeh	183
3. 54. Beth-shan	184
3. 55. Megiddo and King Solomon	187
3. 56. Samaria	190
3. 6. Assyrian Influences in the first Millennium B.C.	192
3. 7. The Old Testament and its Animals	196
3. 71. The Old Testament as Source of Animal Life	196
3. 72. Animal Quotations from the Old Testament	198
3. 73. Voles, Plagues and Whales in the Old Testament	201
3. 8. Animal Sacrifices in the Bible	203
3. 81. The Israelite Sacrifices	203
3. 82. Semitic Animal Sacrifices in General	210
3. 9. The Zoology of the Bible in the Light of Frazer's Analysis of Comparative Folklore	214
 IV. INDEXES	 221
4. 1. Index of the Latin Names of Animals and Species of Animals	223
4. 2. Index of Citations	229
4. 2. 1. Holy Scripture	229
4. 2. 2. Classical Authors	230