
Contents

Foreword xiii

Christiane Rösener

“Your People Shall Be My People, and Your God My God.”
The Shared Life of Ruth and Naomi as a
Model for Women Transgressing Intercultural Boundaries 1

Stefanie Müller

Living with the Torah. A Conversation with Rabbi Beruriah 9

Beate Wehn

“I Am a Handmaid of the Living God!”
The Apostle Thecla and the Consequences of Transgression 19

Claudia Janssen

Paul: Walking the Line Between Traditions and Ages 31

Marlene Crüsemann

Living Water:
Elements of a Feminist Proclamation According to John 4 39

Dagmar Henze

Peter: A Transgressor in His Own Time 47

Irene Dannemann

The Slave Woman’s Challenge to Peter 53

Sigrid Lampe-Densky

Domitia, Marcia, and the Nameless Smuggler:
Pearl Dealers in the Roman Empire 59

Luzia Sutter Rehmann

The Agunah, the Bound Wife:
A Transgressive Woman in Jewish Law and
Her Significance for Early Christian Communities 67

Sigrun Wetzlaugk

"Do Justice for Me!" 77

Ivoni Richter Reimer

Life Calls for Triumph and Celebration 87

Choon-Ho You-Martin

"Women's Movements" and "Women's Theology."
Social Change in South Korea between
Tradition and Postmodernity 97

Eske Wollrad

On Getting Out of One's Skin:
Depictions of White Femininity in Film 111

Ulrike Metternich

"Dynamis and Womanpower."
An Investigation of the Concept of dynamis in the Gospels and Paul 121

Martina S. Gnad

"What we will be has not yet been revealed."
An Archaeology of Seeing in John 9 127

Hanna Kreisel-Liebermann

Protecting and Holding:
Pastoral Companionship for
Cancer Patients in a Multidisciplinary Team 137

Andrea Bieler

Written in Their Bodies:
On the Significance of Rituals in Caring for AIDS Patients 145

Wilhelm Schwendemann

God's Answer to Job 155

Bettina Eltrop

Problem Girls:

A Transgressive Reading of the
Parable of the Ten Virgins (Matthew 25:1-13) 163

Author Biographies 173

Index of Subjects 179