

Contents

|   |     |
|---|-----|
| Preface   | VII |
| IntroductionMartin Kessler   | IX  |
| A. Methodological Essays   |     |
| 1 The Nature of Old Testament NarrativeJuda L. Palache   | 3   |
| 2 Saturation Points and Unfinished Linesin the Study of Old Testament LiteratureM. A. Beek | 23  |
| 3 The Scope of a Small Literary Unitin the Old TestamentKarel A. Deurloo                   | 37  |
| 4 Narrative in the Hebrew BibleK. A. D. Smelik   | 53  |
| 5 A Critical HermeneuticRochus Zuurmond  | 67  |
| B Studies in Genesis   |     |
| 6 The Story of the Sons of God Who Tookthe Daughters of Humans as WivesFrans H. Breukelman | 83  |
| 7 The Way of AbrahamKarel A. Deurloo   | 95  |
| 8 "Because You have Hearkened to MyVoice": Genesis 22Karel A. Deurloo                      | 113 |

C Other Hebrew Bible Studies

9

- |    |   |     |
|----|---|-----|
| 9  | The Place Where YHWH ShowedHimself to Moses (Exodus 3)Aleida G. Van Daalen | 133 |
| 10 | Joshua the SaviorM. A. Beek  | 145 |
| 11 | David and Absalom: A HebrewTragedy in ProseM. A. Beek                      | 155 |