

Contents

List of Abbreviations	ix
List of Contributors	xiii
Foreword “Tell It on the Mountain”—or, “And You Shall Tell Your Daughter [as Well]”	xv
Athalya Brenner-Idan
Editor’s Introduction to Wisdom Commentary: “She Is a Breath of the Power of God” (Wis 7:25)	xix
Barbara E. Reid, OP
Acknowledgments	xxxix
Author’s Introduction: Reading Leviticus with a Feminist Lens	xli
Leviticus 1:1–3:17 Offerings, Offerers, and Considerations of Gender	1
Leviticus 4:1–6:7 Something New: Purification and Guilt	25
Leviticus 6:8–7:38 Another Perspective on Offerings, or What’s In It for the Priests?	47
Leviticus 8:1–10:20 Coming Into and Managing Power	57
Leviticus 11:1–47 If You Must Eat Meat, Then . . .	81
Leviticus 12:1–15:33 Bodies and Access to the Holy	99

Leviticus 16:1-34	Purifying the Sancta: "It Takes a Village"	153
Leviticus 17:1-16	A Bloody Mess	167
Leviticus 18:1–20:27	From Ritual Impurity to Ethical Transgressions	177
Leviticus 21:1–22:33	Protecting Priestly Privilege	233
Leviticus 23:1–25:55	Sacred Time, Space, Speech, and Land	251
Leviticus 26:1-46	Eco-Friendly Blessings and Curses of Chaos	279
Leviticus 27:1-34	How Much Is a Woman Really Worth?	289
Postscript		297
Works Cited		299
Index of Scripture References and Other Ancient Writings		317
Index of Subjects		327