

D ECONSTRUCTION
AND THE
P OSSIBILITY
OF J USTICE

EDITED BY

DRUCILLA CORNELL

MICHEL ROSENFELD

DAVID GRAY CARLSON

New York •
London

Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
Introduction	ix
Law, Violence and Justice
1 Force of Law: The “Mystical Foundation of Authority” Jacques Derrida	3
2 The Philosophy of the Limit: Systems Theory and Feminist Legal Reform Drucilla Cornell	68
Deconstruction and Legal Interpretation
3 The Idolatry of Rules: Writing Law According to Moses, With Reference to Other Jurisprudences Arthur J. Jacobson	95
4 Deconstruction and Legal Interpretation: Conflict, Indeterminacy and the Temptations of the New Legal Formalism Michel Rosenfeld	152
5 Judgment After the Fall Barbara Herrnstein Smith	211
6 In the Name of the Law Samuel Weber	232
7 Forms Charles M. Yablon	258

Comparative Perspectives on Justice, Law and Politics
8	On the Margins of Microeconomics David Gray Carlson	265
9	Hermeneutics and the Rule of Law Fred Dallmayr	283
10	Laying Down the Law in Literature: The Example of Kleist J. Hillis Miller	305
11	Statistical Stigmata Henry Louis Gates	330
12	Rights, Modernity, Democracy Agnes Heller	346
13	Algorithmic Justice Alan Wolfe	361
14	Conditions of Evil Reiner Schürmann (translated from the French by Ian Janssen)	387
	Index	404