

CONTENTS

Preface	vii
Editorial Note	ix
Introduction	1
Biographical Outline	9
I Il Molto Magnifico Messer Giorgio Vasari: The Invention of Identity	21
II Giorgio Vasari of Arezzo	61
Florence: City of Refined Air and Sharp Intellects	74
Rome: The True Teacher	88
III Memory's Itinerary: Research and Publication	106
Research: "since my youth"	115
IV "In Another's Profession": Vasari and the "Writers of Histories"	148
The Mirror of History	151
The Kinship of the Arts	165
Sources: Dusty Records and the Archives of Experience	168
Writing The Lives	177
V The Second Edition: Changing History	187
Vincenzo Borghini and the Purpose of History	190
History and Art at the Court of Cosimo de' Medici	197
Revision and Research	215
The New Book	226
VI "As a Painter": Writing about the Arts	231
The Perfection of Art and the Meaning of Style	234

	The Vocabulary of the Arts	252
	"Visible Speech"	273
VII	Giotto: "The First Light"	287
	Sources	288
	Giotto's Fame: "and now Giotto has the cry"	289
	Fifteenth- and Sixteenth-Century Sources	297
	The Debt to Nature: Giotto's Origins	299
	The Narrative: Giotto's Works and Deeds	306
	The 1568 Edition	313
VIII	"On Friendship": Donatello and the Artists of the Second Age	321
	Sources	321
	The 1568 Edition	327
	The Portrait of the Artist	330
	The Artist Portrays Himself: Life and Works	334
IX	Raphael, the New Apelles	357
	Sources	358
	The 1568 Edition	370
	"A most gracious record"	372
	An Essay on Education	379
	The Studios Master	384
	Conclusion: A Letter to his Readers	403
	Bibliography	413
	Short Titles and Abbreviations	413
	A Note on Editions of The Lives	414
	Bibliography	417
	Index	437
	Photograph Credits	449