

CONTENTS

Preface	ix
Abbreviations	xiii
Introduction: From Bourgeois to Corporatist Europe	3
PART I: THE CONTAINMENT OF THE LEFT
Chapter 1: The Dimensions of Social Conflict at the End of World War I	19
The Language of Class Anxiety (1900–1925)	22
Elites—Resilient and Vulnerable	39
Business Accommodation in Germany and France	53
Chapter 2: Politics among the Victors: Issues and Elections in November 1919	88
Bourgeois Cohesion in France	91
Bourgeois Disarray in Italy	109
Chapter 3: The Limits of Economic Restructuring	135
The Evolution of Leftist Objectives	136
Strategies of Bourgeois Defense	153
The Coal Crisis	194
PART II: THE FAILURE OF THE PARLIAMENTARY CENTER
Chapter 4: The Politics of Reparation	233
The Wager on “Fulfillment”	233
Reparation, Taxes, and the Demands of German Heavy Industry	249
The Bankruptcy of Moderation (1922)	272
Chapter 5: The Attrition of the Liberal Regime in Italy	305
The Political Ecology of Fascism	305
From Giolitti to Mussolini: The Liberals’ Search for Order	322
PART III: PATHS TOWARD CORPORATIST STABILITY
Chapter 6: Between Nationalism and Corporatism: The Ruhr Conflict	355
Inflation, Social Democracy, and the Challenge to Sovereignty in Germany	356
Corporatist Forces versus Poincaré and Stresemann	387

CONTENTS

Chapter 7: Majorities without Mandates: Issues and Elections in the Spring of 1924	421
The Limits of Mussolini's Majority	422
The Limits of Social Democratic Eclipse	440
The Limits of the Cartel des Gauches	458
Chapter 8: Achieving Stability	481
Inflation, Revaluation, and the Decomposition of Parliamentary Politics	483
Iron, Steel, and the International Organization of Capitalism	516
Corporative State in Corporatist Europe	545
Conclusion: The Structure and Limits of Stability	579
Bibliography	595
Index	609