

---

DETAILED CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	xi
About the Authors	xiii
Introduction	1
Chapter 1 Urbanization in Western Societies	9
Pre-Urban and Early Urban Settlements (City Building Up to the mid-14th Century)	11
Proto-Industrial Cities (City Building Between the Mid-14th and Mid-18th Centuries)	13
Industrial Cities (Urbanization From the Mid-18th Century to the Early 20th Century)	16
Postindustrial Cities (Urbanization From the Mid-20th Century Onward)	18
Lessons From Urbanization in the West	20
Some Convergence in Worldwide Trends in Urbanization	22
Questions for Study and Discussion	24
Internet Materials	25
Chapter 2 Urban Places and People in Comparative Perspective	27
Cities in Non-Western and Less Developed Countries During the Era of Urban “Primacy”	28
Urban Areas in Developing Countries in the Post-Primacy Era	30
Cities in Contemporary Latin America	30
Urban Areas in Africa and the Middle East	33
Urban Areas in Asia	35

The Impact of “Primacy” and “Overurbanization” in Less Developed Countries	39
Physical and Social Organization of Cities in Less Developed Countries	40
Concluding Thoughts on Urbanization in More and Less Developed Countries	44
Questions for Study and Discussion	45
Internet Materials	47
Chapter 3 How the United States Became Urban	47
Cities in the Proto-Industrial/Colonial Period (1600–1780)	49
Cities in the Late Proto-Industrial and Early Industrial Period (1780–1870)	52
Urbanization in the Mid- to Late Industrial Period (1870–1920s)	55
Urbanization in the Late Industrial and Postindustrial Periods (1920s–2010)	58
Are Cities Coming Back?	60
Are All Suburbs Growing?	62
Are Cities and Suburbs Becoming More Alike?	63
A Final Look at Urbanization in the United States and Less-Developed Countries	64
Questions for Study and Discussion	65
Notes	65
Chapter 4 The Seeds of Urban Theory: Classic Statements About Cities and Communities	67
Alexis de Tocqueville (1805–1859): Observations of Culture and Community	68
Karl Marx (1818–1883) and Friedrich Engels (1820–1895): Fears of Capitalism and the Working Class	69
Ferdinand Tönnies (1855–1936): The Consequences of the Rural/Urban Divide	72
Emile Durkheim (1858–1917): From the Division of Labor to Urban Imagery	73
Max Weber (1864–1920): The Nature of the City and its Institutions	75
Georg Simmel (1858–1916): The Experience of City Life	76
W. E. B. Du Bois (1868–1963): The Structure and Experience of Race	78
Conclusion	80
Questions for Study and Discussion	82
Chapter 5 The Fruits of Urban Theory: Contemporary Perspectives on Cities and Communities	83
The Chicago School of Urban Sociology	84
Urban Ethnography: Urbanism As a Way of Life	85

Urban Ecology: Of People and Plants	87
Urban Political Economy and the “New” Urban Sociology	89
Postmodernism and the Los Angeles School	91
The Urban Culturalist Perspective	93
Conclusion	100
Questions for Study and Discussion	101
Chapter 6 Civic Culture and the Politics of Community	103
Voluntary Association, Civic Culture, and Social Capital	105
History of Urban Civic Culture in the United States	110
Declining Community?	114
Technology, Community and Civic Culture	115
Conclusion	117
Questions for Study and Discussion	117
Notes	117
Chapter 7 Among Kin, Friends, and Strangers: Social Control in Cities, Suburbs, and Towns	119
Social Control of Groups	121
Day-To-Day Stranger Management	127
Being Alike and Different at the Same Time	132
Suburban “Society”	134
Conclusions	136
Questions for Study and Discussion	136
Note	136
Chapter 8 How Social Scientists, Planners, and Reformers Figure Out What’s Going On and What Needs Fixing	137
Numbers, Pictures, and Words	139
How We Came to Study What We Study	148
Questions for Study and Discussion	156
Notes	156

Chapter 9 Fixing Places and People: How Policy Makers, Planners, and Social Reformers Try to Make Cities Better	159
Ideas That Inform Social Reform, Planning, and Policy Making	162
The Connection Among Urban Reform, Planning, and Policy Making	166
Urban and Suburban Planning in the Late 20th Century and Early 21st Century	169
What Are the Proper Roles of the Public and Private Sectors in Solving Urban Problems?	171
Public–Private Partnerships in the United States	173
Public–Private Partnerships in Social Reform	178
Progressivism and the 21st Century City	178
Questions for Study and Discussion	181
Website Materials	181
Chapter 10 Embracing the Cultures of Urban People and Places	183
Questions for Study and Discussion	188
Glossary	189
References	193
Index	205