

Contents

List of illustrations	x
Notes on contributors	xi
Acknowledgments	xv
1 Introduction: sketching the contours of a feminist philosophy of economics	1
DRUCILLA K. BARKER AND EDITH KUIPER
PART I
Rereading history	19
2 Into the margin!	21
MICHÈLE A. PUJOL
3 Hazel Kyrk and the ethics of consumption	38
SUSAN VAN VELZEN
4 Feminist fiction and feminist economics: Charlotte Perkins Gilman on efficiency	56
IRENE VAN STAVEREN
5 Beyond markets: wage setting and the methodology of feminist political economy	70
MARILYN POWER, ELLEN MUTARI, AND DEBORAH M. FIGART
PART II
Science stories and feminist economics	87
6 Some implications of the feminist project in economics for empirical methodology	89
JOYCE P. JACOBSEN

7	Foregrounding practices: feminist philosophy of economics beyond rhetoric and realism	105
	FABIENNE PETER
8	After objectivism vs. relativism	122
	SANDRA HARDING
9	How did “the moral” get split from “the economic”?	134
	JULIE A. NELSON
 PART III
	Constructing masculine/Western identity in economics	143
10	The construction of masculine identity in Adam Smith’s Theory of Moral Sentiments	145
	EDITH KUIPER
11	Social classifications, social statistics, and the “facts” of “difference” in economics	161
	BRIAN P. COOPER
12	Reading neoclassical economics: toward an erotic economy of sharing	180
	SUSAN F. FEINER
13	The anxious identities we inhabit: post’isms and economic understandings	194
	NITASHA KAUL
 PART IV
	Beyond social contract: theorizing agency and relatedness	211
14	“Holding Hands at Midnight”: the paradox of caring labor	213
	NANCY FOLBRE
15	Integrating vulnerability: on the impact of caring on economic theorizing	231
	MAREN A. JOCHIMSEN
16	An evolutionary approach to feminist economics: two different models of caring	247
	SUSAN HIMMELWEIT

17 Domestic labor and gender identity: are all women carers? GILLIAN J. HEWITSON	266
PART V
Rethinking categories	285
18 Empowering work? Bargaining models reconsidered S. CHARUSHEELA	287
19 Economic marginalia: postcolonial readings of unpaid domestic labor and development CYNTHIA A. WOOD	304
20 The difficulty of a feminist economics EIMAN ZEIN-ELABDIN	321
Index	339

Illustrations

Table

16.1	Interactions between species (or modes of behavior) classified by advantage or disadvantage to each species	260
------	---	-----

Figures

11.1	Population estimates for La Plata Federal Union for the year 1815	169
11.2	Family types in the 1851 British census	172
15.1	The caring situation	236
16.1	Norms and behavior with sluggish norms	254
16.2	Norms and behavior with volatile norms	256
16.3	Populations numbers over time of prey and predator	261