

Contents

Introduction	3
ONE. Art as History; History as Politics: The History of Frederick the Great by Kugler and Menzel	11
I. Liberalism and the Frederician Tradition	13
II. The New Tasks of Historical Art	18
III. Menzel's Illustrations for Frederick the Great	26
IV. Menzel's Historicism	50
V. The Later History of Frederick the Great	53
TWO. Fontane's Prussian Songs	61
THREE. The Revolution of 1848	77
I. The Young Rethel	79
II. Menzel's The March Casualties Lying in State	93
III. Rethel's Another Dance of Death	104
IV. Another Dance of Death as a Social Document	121
FOUR. Scheffel and the Embourgeoisement of the German Middle Ages	131
FIVE. Before, During, and After the Triumph	149
I. From Revolution to Empire	151
II. The Proclamation of the German Empire by Werner	165
III. Fontane's Apotheosis of the Old Prussia	180
Epilogue	197
Notes	203
Notes on the Illustrations	217
Bibliography	221
Index	225