

Contents

LIST OF FIGURES AND TABLES	ix
PREFACE	xi
INTRODUCTION	1
Migration Theory
Talking Across Disciplines
Caroline B. Brettell and James F. Hollifield
Framing the Question	3
Levels and Units of Analysis	11
Data and Methodology	14
Immigration, Integration, and Citizenship	19
Bridge Building among the Disciplines	21
CHAPTER 1
Time and Temporality in Migration Studies	37
Donna R. Gabaccia
The Historical Origins of Migration Studies	39
Theory and Historical Migration Studies after 1960	43
Migration as a Global Phenomenon: The Current
State of the History–Social Science Dialogue	53
Conclusion	55
CHAPTER 2
Demographic Analyses of Immigration	67
Frank D. Bean and Susan K. Brown
Theories of International Migration	69
Theories of Immigrant Integration	74
Theories of Immigration’s Effects on Receiving Societies	81
Conclusion	83
CHAPTER 3
Economic Aspects of Migration	90
Philip Martin
Introduction	90
Immigration Patterns and Responses	91

CONTENTS	vi
Macroeconomic Effects	93
Labor Market Effects	96
Public Finance Effects	105
Entrepreneurship and Innovation	108
Conclusions	109
CHAPTER 4
The Sociology of International Migration	115
David Scott FitzGerald
A Taxonomy of Sociological Perspectives	117
Selectivity	119
Classical Assimilation and Integration	124
Segmented Assimilation	128
Transnationalism	131
Dissimilation	135
Conclusion	137
CHAPTER 5
Theorizing Migration in Anthropology	148
The Cultural, Social, and Phenomenological Dimensions of Movement
Caroline B. Brettell
Patterns of Mobility: From Typologies to Meaning	150
Articulating Micro and Macro/Global and Local/Here and There	153
The Social Organization of Migration: Kinship, Networks, and Gender	159
Theorizing Migration/Theorizing Ethnicity and Identity	163
Citizenship and Belonging/Inclusion and Exclusion	168
The State, the City, and Multiculturalism	170
Conclusion	174
CHAPTER 6
Coming of Age	198
Migration Theory in Geography
Susan W. Hardwick
Introduction	198
Socio-Spatial Theories in Geography	201
The “Transnational Turn” in Geography	207
Feminist Theory and Migration Research in Geography	212
Critical Race Theory, Whiteness, and Antiracist Geography	214
Future Directions for Migration Research in Geography	217

CHAPTER 7
The Politics of International Migration	227
How Can “We Bring the State Back In”?
James F. Hollifield and Tom K. Wong
Framing the Question	230
The Migration “Crisis” in Historical Perspective	231
The Politics of Control	235
Migration and International Relations	245
The Politics of Incorporation, Citizenship, and National Identity	257
Conclusion: Avenues for Future Research	268
CHAPTER 8
Law and Migration	289
Many Constants, Few Changes
David Abraham
Immigration and Sovereignty	289
Westphalian and Post-Westphalian Problems and Reforms	294
Post-Westphalian and Neo-Westphalian Backlash	299
Post-Multiculturalism and the Neo-Liberal Welfare State	301
CHAPTER 9
Migration Theory Rebooted?	318
Asymmetric Challenges in a Global Agenda
Adrian Favell
Canyons and Silos in Migration Studies	318
Nation-State Mentalities	320
Asymmetries across the Atlantic	322
Final Word	327
CONTRIBUTORS	329
INDEX	333