

CONTENTS

Notes on Contributors	vii
Illustrations	viii
PART A: INTRODUCTORY	1
Preface and Acknowledgements P. Sargant Florence	2
Chronology	4
Foreword J. R. L. Anderson	7
PART B: OGDEN AS EDITOR AND POLYMATH	12
Cambridge 1909–1919 and its Aftermath P. Sargant Florence	13
A Voice of Reason in the First World War Martin and Eva Kolinsky	56
“My Friend Ogden” Dora Russell	82
Co-Author of the “Meaning of Meaning” I. A. Richards	96
An Improbable Friendship Marjory Todd	110
Talent Scout and Editor Lord Zuckerman	122
PART C: THE INVENTION OF BASIC ENGLISH	133
Basic English and Its Value for Science Elsie Graham	135
Basic English for the Social Sciences P. Sargant Florence	143
Basic English as an International Language Elsie Graham	153
Basic English—its Position and Plans. J. A. Lauwerys	161
Basic English in Literature William Empson	169
Basic English Today. A Postscript Norman Pritchard	174

PART D: EXAMPLES OF BASIC ENGLISH	177
The Tower of Babel (Genesis II, 1–9), the Bible in Basic English	179
The Gettysburg Address, Abraham Lincoln	180
A Page from the General Basic English Dictionary	181
First page of the Basic Science Dictionary Elsie Graham	182
Complete List of Basic Words and Rules C. K. Ogden	184
 PART E: C. K. OGDEN AS AUTHOR	 187
Fecundity versus Civilisation C. K. Ogden (alias Adelyne More) (three opening pages)	189
Review of the Encyclopaedia Britannica's Supplementary Volumes, 1926 C. K. Ogden	192
Counter-Offensive (with P. S. F. Introduction) C. K. Ogden	213
and I. A. Richards's Commentary	226
 PART F: C. K. OGDEN: A PLEA FOR REASSESSMENT J. L. R. Anderson	 231
 Appendix	 245