

Contents.

Part I. Richard in the Chronicles.

	Page
Introduction	1
The Lancastrian chroniclers, 1 . . . the Richard saga, 2 . . . historical table, 3.
I. Historie of the Arrival of Edward IV	6
Authorship, date, use by later chroniclers, 6 . . . contents, 7—11 . . . summary, 11—13 . . . Yorkist character, 11 . . . contribution to the saga, 12.
II. Warkworth's Chronicle	13
Date, authorship, 13 . . . use by Stow and Holinshed, 14 . . . contents, 14—19 . . . summary, 19, 20.
III. Ms. References to the death of Henry VI	20
IV. A Chronicle of London from 1089 to 1483	21
V. The First Continuation of the History of Croyland Monastery	22
Authorship, date, 22 . . . contents, 22, 23 . . . summary, 24.
VI. The Second Continuation of the History of Croyland Monastery	24
Authorship, date, 24 . . . contents, 24—41 . . . summary, 41—46 . . . characterization of Richard, 42 . . . Richard's crimes, 42 . . . contributions to the saga, 45.
VII. Rous's Historia Regum Angliae	46
Date, 46 . . . contents, 46—49 . . . summary, 49—52 . . . Tudor flattery, characterization of Richard and Richmond, 49 . . . Richard's deformity, his crimes, 50 . . . classical influence in Rous, 51.
VIII. The Memoirs of Philippe de Comines	52
Date, use by Hall, 52 . . . contents, 52—57 . . . summary, 57—59 . . . Clarence's death in the butt of malmsey, 58 . . . divine justice in the York-Lancaster struggle, 59.

	Page
IX. Bernard André's History of Henry VII	59
Date, 59 . . . contents, 59—63 . . . summary, 64—66 . . . contributions to the saga, 64 . . . characterization of Richmond, the messenger of God, and of Richard, the "blood-sucker", 64 . . . Richard's crimes, 65 . . . classical influence, 65 . . . speeches, divine justice, 66.
X. Fabyan's Chronicle	66
Date, 66 . . . contents, 67—73 . . . summary, 74, 75 . . . contributions to the saga, 74.
XI. More's History of King Richard III	75
A. The English version — author, publication, 75 . . . relation to the Latin version, 76 . . . date, 77 . . . contents 78—116.
B. The Latin version — contents, 116—118 . . . summary, 118—127 . . . use by later chroniclers, 119 . . . contributions to the saga, 119 . . . Richard's person 119 . . . his character, 120 . . . his protector- ship, 123 . . . his conscience, 124 . . . little reference to divine justice, lack of classical influence, 126.
XII. Polydore Vergil's Historia Angliæ	127
Date, 127 . . . English translation, 128 . . . use by Hall and the Hardyng continuator, 128 . . . contents, 128—155 . . . summary, 155—161 . . . importance of Vergil's work in the development of the saga, 155 . . . use by later chroniclers and Shakespeare, 156 . . . account of Richard's early life, 156 . . . varying accounts of the character and death of Warwick, 157 . . . comparison of Vergil with More, 157 . . . Richard's later life, person and character in Vergil, 158 . . . his conscience, 159 . . . the motives of divine vengeance and of destiny, and their use by Shakespeare, 160.
XIII. Rastell's Pastime of People	161
Author, use of Fabyan, 161 . . . the death and burial of the two princes, 161.
XIV. The Continuation of Hardyng's Chronicle	162
Authorship, 163 . . . translation and adaptation of Vergil, 164 . . . contents, 164—172 . . . summary, 172, 173 . . . contributions to the saga, 172 . . . use by Hall, 172.
XV. Hall's Chronicle	173
Author, editions, date, 173 . . . use of Vergil, Fabyan, de Comines, More, 174 . . . contents, 174—201 . . . summary, 201—207 . . . purpose of Hall's work, 201 . . .

additional information of Richard's early career, 202 . . . his character and crimes, 202 . . . description of Richmond, 204 . . . speeches, 205 . . . additions to the saga, 205 . . . use by later chroniclers, especially Holinshed, 206 . . . use by Shakespeare, 206.
XVI. Grafton's Chronicle	207
Author, 207 . . . date, 208 . . . use of Hall, Vergil, Fabyan, More, 208 . . . contents, 208—211.
XVII. Holinshed's Chronicle	211
Author, editions, 211 . . . use of Hall, Stow, other sources, 212 . . . contents, 212—222 . . . use of Hall by Shakespeare in 3 Henry VI, 213 . . . summary, 222, 223 . . . but one addition to the saga, 222 . . . Shakespeare's use of Holinshed, 223.
XVIII. Stow's Annals	223
Author, editions, sources, 223 . . . contents, 224—227 . . . the case of Burdet, 225 . . . the indictment of Clarence, 225 . . . faithful use of More, 227.

Part II. Richard in Poetry and the Drama.

I. The Song of Lady Bessy	231
Authorship, date, 231 . . . contents, 231—234 . . . summary, 234—235 . . . popular feeling toward Richard and Richmond, 234.
II. A Mirror for Magistrates	235
Purpose of the work, 235 . . . editions, legends of the time of Richard, 237.
1. King Henry VI, murders of Edward and Henry, 238 . . . use of Hall, 238.
2. George Plantagenet [Clarence], contents, 239—241 . . . addition to the saga, 241 . . . Clarence murdered by Richard in person, 242 . . . other evidences that popular tradition regarded Richard as Clarence's murderer, 242, 243 . . . possible use of the legend by Shakespeare, 245.
3. King Edward IV, contents, 246.
4. Syr Anthony Wodvile, contents, 246—248 . . . summary, 248.
5. Lord Hastings, contents, 250, 251 . . . summary, 252.
6. Henry Duke of Buckingham, contents, 252—256 . . . summary, 256 . . . Buckingham's motive for rebellion, 256 . . . comparison with Shakespeare's play, 257.

	Page
7. Collingbourne, contents, ground of his execution, 258.
8. Richard Plantagenet Duke of Gloucester, contents, 259 . . . summary, 260 . . . omission of Richard's deformity and of his dream, 260.
9. Shore's Wife, contents, 260—263 . . . summary, 263—264 . . . her beggary, 263 . . . use by The True Tragedy, 264.
III. Legge's Richardus Tertius	265
Allusions to the play, 265 . . . life of Legge, 265 . . . place, time and circumstances of production, 266 [see also Addendum] . . . manuscripts, 269 . . . printed editions, 269 . . . historical position of the play, 269 . . . influence upon popular dramatists, 271 . . . historical sources, 273 . . . analysis of the play, with sources of the scenes, imitations of Seneca, and comparison with Shakespeare's play, 280—371 . . . other imitations of Seneca, 371 . . . the character of Richard in Richard Tertius , 375 . . . formal imitation of Seneca in material, theme, and "fable", 381 . . . epic scenes, 385 . . . lyric scenes, 387 . . . dramatic scenes, 388 . . . the chorus, 390 . . . construction, organization of the material, 390 . . . the relation of Legge's play to Shakespeare's, 393.
IV. Lacey's Richardus Tertius , a transcript of Legge's play	395
V. A Tragical Report of King Richard the Third	395
Entry in the Stationers' Register, 395.
VI. The True Tragedy of Richard the Third	396
Entry in the Stationers' Register, 396 . . . previous notices and comments, 396 . . . historical position of the play, its nature and style, 398 . . . influence of the chronicles and of Marlowe, 399 . . . of the revenge-plays, 400 . . . verse and prose in the play, 403 . . . corruption, 404 . . . historical sources, 404 . . . use of the Mirror for Magistrates , 409 . . . analysis of the play, with sources of the scenes and relation to other early plays, 413—469 . . . supposition of reference to Drayton's Heroical Epistles unfounded, 439 . . . William Slaughter not an actor in the Queen's company, 444 . . . Denis in the True Tragedy and in Alleyn's play, 456 . . . the character of Richard in the True Tragedy , 469 . . . influence of Legge's play upon the True Tragedy — of Marlowe's plays, 480 . . . Henry VI and the True Tragedy, 484 . . . the True Tragedy and Shakespeare's Richard III, 497 . . . the date of the True Tragedy, 524 . . . the authorship of the True Tragedy, 528.

VII. Chute's Shore's Wife	528
Entry in the Stationers' Register, date, extant copies, composition, 528.
VIII. Fletcher's The Rising to the Crowne of Richard the Thirde	529
Authorship, date, contents, 529 . . . sources More and Holinshed, 530 . . . influence of popular tradition, 530.
IX. Henslowe's Play on Richard III	531
X. A Possible Original of Shakespeare's Play	531
Opinions of Lloyd, Fleay and Lowell, 532 . . . opinion of Halliwell and quotation from supposed previous play, 533.
XI. Drayton's Heroical Epistles	534
The argument for reference to Drayton in the True Tragedy, 534 . . . date of the Epistles, 535.
1. Queene Margaret to William de la-Poole, contents, 536.
2. Edward the fourth to Shore's wife, contents, 537.
3. Shore's wife to Edward the fourth, contents, 538 . . . note on portrait of Shore's wife, 539.
XII. Index Table of some of the Sources of Shakespeare's Richard III	539