

Contents

List of Plates	page xiii
List of Figures	xxiii
Abbreviations	xxv
INTRODUCTION	I
PART I. PAINTING
1. Amateur, Sitter, and Connoisseur	9
2. Parallels between Painting and Poetry	39
PART II. LANDSCAPE GARDENING
3. 'The Visionary Scene': Pope's Sensibility to Landscape	71
4. Pope's Concept of Garden Design	102
5. Twickenham, Paradigm of the Picturesque Garden	118
6. 'Ascending Villa's': Pope's Influence on Twickenham Neighbours	146
7. 'Publick Professors of Gardening': Collaboration with Professional Landscape Architects	163
8. Gardening Lords and Vegetable Children: The Landscape of the Greater House	186
9. 'Practical Poetry': The Landscape of the English Villa	214
I. Antitypes of the Greater House	216
II. The 'Farm-Like Way of Gardening'	223
III. Stourhead, Wiltshire: Synthesis of Poetic and Picturesque Garden Design	241

PART III. ARCHITECTURE

10. Garden Architecture	249
11. Palladian Revival	276
12. Public Buildings, Greater Houses, and Villas	294

PART IV. SCULPTURE

13. Verse and Sculpture	329
I. 'Sculpture and her Sister-Arts'	330
II. Funerary Monuments	334
III. 'The Faithless Column and the Crumbling Bust'	356
CONCLUSION: 'The Sister-Arts Knit in Harmonious Dance'	362

APPENDICES

A. 'Ears of an Untoward Make': The Myth of Pope's Insensibility to Music	368
B. Views of Pope's Villa	372
C. Where was Timon's Villa? Profiles of Blenheim and Houghton	381
INDEX	385