

Contents

List of Maps	vii
Abbreviations	ix
Acknowledgements	xi
Introduction	1
Modern historiography	2
The primary sources	5
1 The Birth of the Principality	15
Antioch and the First Crusade 1097–1099	15
The advance towards Antioch	16
The First Crusade in the region of Antioch	24
The contest for control of Antioch	34
The early formation of the principality of Antioch	42
Summary	45
2 The Formation of the Principality	47
The need for territorial consolidation 1100–1130	47
The early years	50
The expansion of the principality under Tancred 1106–1112	59
Roger of Salerno 1113–1119	69
1120–1126	81
Bohemond II 1126–1130	89
Summary	90
3 Relations with the Byzantine Empire	92
Bohemond's oath to Alexius and the retention of Antioch	92
The Treaty of Devol	94
The Treaty of Devol's influence on relations with the Byzantine empire	99
4 Relations with Other Latin Settlements in the East	104
A Latin confraternity in the East?	104
1098–1105	107

1105–1112	111
1113–1130	123
Summary	127
5 The Princes of Antioch	129
Bohemond I and the title of princeps	129
The succession	133
The powers of the prince of Antioch	148
6 Lordship in the Principality	155
Titles	156
Issuing charters	157
Households and officers	158
Key individuals/lordships	158
The county of Marash	162
Origins	163
Summary	168
Appendix:
Lay landholders in the principality of Antioch 1098–1130	169
7 The Development of Institutions	181
The prince's household	182
The administration of the city of Antioch	189
8 The Latin Patriarchate of Antioch	195
The establishment of the Latin Church in Antioch 1098–1100	195
The formation of the Latin patriarchate of Antioch 1100–1130	198
The development of patriarchal authority	200
The patriarchate of Antioch and the universal church	208
Summary	213
Conclusion	214
Bibliography	217
Index	225