

Contents

PREFACE

1 LANGUAGE, LINGUISTICS, AND LITERARY ANALYSIS 1

What Is Language?	4
Symbols	4
System	5
Language Universals	7
Creativity	8
Ambiguity	9
Language as Action in Context	10
The Task of the Linguist	12
Competence and Performance	15
Underlying and Surface Structure	17
A Model of Grammar	18
Applications to Literature	19
“Applying” Linguistics	19
Literature as a Type of Discourse	20
Cohesion	21
The Idea of the “Grammar” of a Text	24
Style as Choice	29
Suggested Further Readings	34
Exercises	35
Notes	38

2	THE SOUNDS OF ENGLISH	41
	Speech versus Writing	41
	Differences in Information Conveyed	41
	Representing Speech in Writing: The Phonetic Alphabet	46
	Characteristics of Speech Sounds: Phonetics	51
	The Articulatory Characteristics of Consonants	52
	The Articulatory Characteristics of Vowels	54
	Sounds as System: Phonology	56
	Distinctive Sounds versus Predictable Variants	56
	Distinctive Features	58
	Constraints on Sound Sequences	61
	Pitch	64
	Stress	66
	Phonology and Literature	68
	Phonological Cohesion	69
	Meter	73
	Rhythm and Meter	77
	Suggested Further Readings	79
	Exercises	80
	Notes	84
3	MORPHEMES AND WORDS: INTRODUCTION TO THE LEXICON	87
	Morphemes	89
	Classes of Morphemes	90
	Identifying Morphemes	92
	The Lexicon	94
	Compounds	95
	Idioms	96

The Form of Lexical Entries	97
Size and Variability of the Lexicon	103
The Whorfian Hypothesis	106
Morphemes, the Lexicon, and Style	110
Lexical Cohesion	110
Lexical Foregrounding	114
Diction	116
Suggested Further Readings	122
Exercises	123
Notes	127

4 SYNTAX 129

The Base	131
Phrase Structure Rules	131
The Lexicon	140
Deep Structure: Output of Phrase Structure and Lexicon	141
Transformations	142
Indirect Object Movement	142
Passive	144
Imperatives	147
Negation	148
Questions	150
Do -Support	151
Affix-Hopping	153
The Recursive Property of Language	154
Coordination	155
Relative Clauses	158
Complements	161
Why Do We Need Transformational Rules?	166
Syntax and Literature	167
Simple Sentences	168
“Directness,” Real and Apparent	169
Complexity	174

Suggested Further Readings	177
Exercises	178
Notes	184

5 SEMANTICS: HOW DOES A SENTENCE MEAN? 187

Role Relations	189
Role Types	191
Advantages of Role Structure Analysis	198
Predication Analysis of Lexical Items	199
Verbs	199
Nouns and Adjectives	201
Synonymy and Homonymy	203
Selectional Restrictions, Contradiction, Anomaly, and Tautology	204
Anomaly and Metaphor	207
Role Structures and Literary Analysis	210
Suggested Further Readings	219
Exercises	220
Notes	224

6 SPEECH ACTS AND SPEECH GENRES 226

Speech Act Theory	229
The Formalization of Speech Acts	232
Indirect Speech Acts	233

Indirect Speech Acts and the Cooperative Principle	236
Presupposition	238
Analyzing Discourse	241
Conversation	242
Narrative	247
Narrative in Literature	251
Analyzing Fictional Discourse	255
Fiction versus Nonfiction	259
Pragmatics and Written Discourse	260
Suggested Further Readings	262
Exercises	263
Notes	268

7 ESTABLISHING A UNIVERSE OF DISCOURSE 272

Spatial Frames of Reference	273
Anchoring in Common-Sense Knowledge of the World	273
Anchoring in the Perspective of the Speaker	275
Temporal Frames of Reference	277
Shared Domains, Coreference	279
Points of Departure	282
New Information	285
Point of View in Narrative Fiction	287
Narrative Tense	296
Free Indirect Style	299
Suggested Further Readings	302
Exercises	303
Notes	306

8 VARIETIES OF ENGLISH: REGIONAL, SOCIAL, AND ETHNIC 309

The Data on Variability	311
Regional Varieties	314
Northern Characteristics	316
Midland Characteristics	317
Southern Characteristics	317
Social Varieties	318
“Standard English”	322
Ethnic Varieties: Black English	325
Phonology	326
Inflections	329
Syntax	331
Speech Acts	334
Age-Grading	335
Attitudes to the Use of Language Varieties in Literature	335
Stereotypic versus Variable Representations of Language Varieties	338
Suggested Further Readings	350
Exercises	351
Notes	355

9 ENGLISH IN CONTACT 358

Pidgins and Creoles	363
Bilingual Situations	373
Literary Representation of Other Languages in the Context of English	376
Suggested Further Readings	391
Exercises	392
Notes	395

GLOSSARY 399

BIBLIOGRAPHY OF LINGUISTIC AND CRITICAL WORKS 411

INDEX 425