

CONTENTS

FOREWORD	xi
PREFACE	xiii
CHAPTER ONE Introduction	1
I. Early American Documentary Editing	2
II. "Historical" Editing	4
III. "Literary" Editing	6
IV. The Evolution of Distinctive Methodologies	8
V. The 1950s: The Critical Reception of Historical Editing	10
VI. The Americanization of Copy-Text	11
VII. The 1960s: Editing and Relevance	12
VIII. The MLA and Private Writings	15
IX. Interdisciplinary Evaluations Begin	17
X. Related Functions of Editing	21
XI. The Rationale for a Guide to Documentary Editing	23
Suggested Readings	24
CHAPTER TWO Initiating an Editorial Project	30
I. Collection of Sources	32
A. Defining the Scope of the Search	34
1. Manuscripts	34
2. Printed Documents	36
3. Dealers and Collectors	38
B. Collecting Photocopies: The Mail Canvass	40

C.	On-Site Searches	43
D.	A Word on Research Etiquette	45
II.	Cataloging and Control	48
A.	Accessioning Materials	49
B.	Labeling and Arranging Folders	50
C.	Control Files	51
D.	Arrangement of Control Slips	53
E.	Computerization and Control Files	55
III.	Special Problems of Computerized Systems	58
A.	Subject Indexes of Cataloged Materials	59
B.	A Note on Computerized Control	60
	Suggested Readings	62
CHAPTER THREE Organizing a Documentary Edition		66
I.	Scope	67
A.	Comprehensive and Selective Editions	67
B.	Microform Supplements	70
C.	Other Supplementary Forms	72
D.	The Pitfalls of Selectivity	72
II.	Organization of the Printed Edition	74
A.	Some Conventions of Documentary Organization	75
B.	Diaries and Journals	76
	Suggested Readings	78
CHAPTER FOUR Evaluating and Transcribing the Source Text		81
I.	Choosing the Source Text	82
A.	Handwritten or Typewritten Materials	82
1.	Letters	83
2.	Papers	86
B.	Printed Works	87
II.	Transcribing the Source Text: Methods of Inscription	88
A.	Handwritten Source Texts	89
B.	Typewritten Documents	91
C.	Printed Source Texts	92
D.	Graphic Elements in Documents	93
E.	Transcriptions of Unlocated Original Documents	94

III.	Source Texts Requiring Translation	95
	A. Source Texts in a Foreign Language	95
	B. Authorial Shorthand	96
	C. Codes and Ciphers	98
IV.	Transcribing the Source Text: Types of Documentary Records	101
	A. Correspondence	102
	B. Business and Financial Records	104
	C. Professional and Technical Records	104
	D. Government Records	105
	E. An Author's Works	105
	F. Journals and Diaries	106
	G. Records of Oral Communications	107
	v. The Business of Editing Begins	110
	Suggested Readings	110
CHAPTER FIVE	The Conventions of Textual Treatment	113
I.	Standardizing, Recording, and Emending	116
II.	General Methods of Textual Treatment	118
	A. The Typographical Facsimile	118
	B. Diplomatic Transcriptions	120
	C. The Middle Ground: Inclusive and Expanded Texts	121
	1. Inclusive Texts	122
	2. Textual Records	124
	3. Expanded Text	125
	D. Clear Text	129
III.	Conclusion	131
	Suggested Readings	131
CHAPTER SIX	The Practical Application of Editorial Conventions	132
I.	Textual Symbols	132
	A. Passages Deleted by the Author	134
	B. Unrecoverable Gaps in the Source Text	134
	C. Additions to the Original Inscription	135
	D. Underlining in the Source Text	135
	E. Authorial Symbols	136
	F. Line Breaks in the Source Text	137
	G. Editorial Supply	137

H.	Editorial Expansion of Abbreviations or Contractions	137
I.	Editorial Omissions	137
J.	Alternative Readings	137
K.	Editorial Interpolations	138
L.	Some Rules for Editorial Sigla	138
II.	Descriptive Textual Notes	139
III.	Contrasting Textual Methods at Work	142
A.	Textual Records	147
1.	Inclusive Text	147
2.	Clear Text, Symbolic Method	148
3.	Clear Text, Descriptive Method	149
IV.	Conclusion	150
	Suggested Readings	150
CHAPTER SEVEN General Rules and Their Exceptions		152
I.	Conservative Patterns of Emendation	152
A.	Records of the Inarticulate	153
II.	Documentary Problems with Textual Solutions	155
A.	Genetic Elements in Source Texts	155
1.	Collaborative Source Texts	156
B.	Multiple-Text Documents	157
1.	Nonauthorial Emendations and Additions	159
C.	Conflation	161
1.	Fragmentary Source Texts	161
2.	Synoptic Texts	162
3.	Reconciling Accounts of Independent Witnesses	164
III.	Basic Rules for Documentary Editing	165
	Suggested Readings	166
CHAPTER EIGHT The Mechanics of Establishing a Text		167
I.	Transcription Procedures	167
A.	Rules for Transcription	170
B.	Special Transcription Methods	172
C.	Transcription Forms and Control	172
D.	Filing Transcriptions	174
II.	Establishing the Editorial Texts	176
A.	Evaluation of Procedures	177

III.	Back-of-Book Textual Notes	178
IV.	Computers and Texts	181
	Suggested Readings	181
CHAPTER NINE Preparing a Documentary Edition for the Printer		183
I.	Contextual or Informational Annotation	183
II.	Models	185
	A. Overannotation	187
III.	Annotational Forms	187
	A. The Source Note	187
	B. Footnotes	190
	C. Back-of-Book Annotation	192
	D. Introductory Editorial Notes	193
IV.	Citation of Sources	193
	A. The Form of Citations in Editorial Notes	195
V.	Preparation of Footnotes	197
VI.	Supplements to Informational Annotation	198
VII.	The Index	199
VIII.	Statements of Method	201
	Suggested Readings	202
CHAPTER TEN The Editor and the Publisher		204
I.	The Documentary Editor and the Documentary Publisher	204
	A. Hot Type and Cold Type	206
II.	Front and Back Matter	208
	A. The Statement of Textual Method	209
	B. The Statement of the Pattern of Annotation	210
	C. Textual Symbols and Forms of Source Texts	210
	D. Short Titles and Symbols for Repositories	211
	E. Optional Front and Back Matter	211
III.	CSE Inspections	212
IV.	Final Establishment of the Documentary Text	213
	A. Textual Notes and Apparatus	214
	B. Nontextual Annotation	215
V.	Preparing the Index	215

VI. Conclusion	216
Suggested Readings	217
APPENDIX Form Letters	219
INDEX	221