

Contents

Preface	Page	v
Terminology		x
I Introduction to language testing		1
1.1 Testing and teaching		1
1.2 Why test?		2
1.3 What should be tested and to what standard?		3
1.4 Testing the language skills		3
1.5 Testing the language elements		4
1.6 Language skills and language elements		5
1.7 Recognition and production		6
1.8 Problems of sampling		7
1.9 Avoiding traps for the student		9
2 Objective testing		11
(With special reference to multiple-choice techniques)
2.1 Subjective and objective testing		11
2.2 Objective tests		12
2.3 Multiple-choice items: general		14
2.4 Multiple-choice items: the stem/the correct option/the distractors		16
2.5 Writing the test		19
3 Tests of grammar and usage		21
3.1 Multiple-choice grammar items (1): item types		21
3.2 Multiple-choice grammar items (2): structure recognition tests		23
3.3 Constructing multiple-choice items		28
3.4 Constructing error-recognition m/c items		31
3.5 Constructing word-order items		32
3.6 Constructing completion items		34
3.7 Constructing transformation items		37

4	Testing vocabulary	41
4.1	Selection of items	41
4.2	Multiple-choice items (1)	42
4.3	Multiple-choice items (2)	46
4.4	Sets (Associated words)	48
4.5	Matching items	49
4.6	More objective items	52
4.7	Completion items	53
5	Listening comprehension tests	57
5.1	General	57
5.2	Phoneme discrimination tests	58
5.3	Tests of stress and intonation	63
5.4	Testing comprehension through visual materials	65
5.5	Statements and dialogues	76
5.6	Understanding talks and lectures	78
6	Oral production tests	83
6.1	Some difficulties in testing the speaking skills	83
6.2	Reading aloud	84
6.3	Oral drills	86
6.4	Using pictures for assessing oral production	90
6.5	The oral interview	94
6.6	Some other techniques for oral examining	97
6.7	Pencil-and-paper techniques	99
7	Testing reading comprehension	103
7.1	The nature of the reading skills	103
7.2	Initial stages of reading: matching tests	105
7.3	True/False reading tests	108
7.4	Multiple-choice items (1): short texts	110
7.5	Multiple-choice items (2): longer texts	112
7.6	Completion items	119
7.7	Cloze procedure	122
7.8	Cursory reading	124
8	Testing the writing skills	127
8.1	Testing composition writing	127
8.2	Situational composition	129

8.3	Grading the composition	133
8.4	The writing skills	138
8.5	Objective tests of writing: reference, linkage and expansion	139
8.6	Objective tests of writing: mechanics	142
8.7	Objective tests of writing: judgement skills	145
8.8	Controlled writing	149
9	Criteria and types of tests
9.1	Validity	153
9.2	Reliability	155
9.3	Discrimination	157
9.4	Administration	158
9.5	Test instructions to the candidate	160
9.6	Backwash effects	161
9.7	Types of tests	162
10	Interpreting test scores	167
10.1	Frequency distribution	167
10.2	Measures of central tendency	168
10.3	Measures of dispersion	170
10.4	Item analysis	172
10.5	Guessing	180
10.6	Moderating	181
10.7	Item cards and banks	182
	Appendix	185
	Dictation	185
	Translation	186
	Paraphrase, precis and summary writing	187
	Testing literature	188
	Selected bibliography	189
	Practical work	195
	(Practice sections)	