

CONTENTS

Preface	ix
Introduction	xi
VARIABLE RULES
Walt Wolfram
On what basis variable rules?	1
Henrietta J. Cedergren
On the nature of variable constraints	13
Derek Bickerton
Quantitative versus dynamic paradigms: The case of Montreal que	23
Gillian Sankoff
Above and beyond phonology in variable rules	44
Frank Anshen
Some data which do not fit some models	62
SQUISHES
Donald H. Albury
The clause-internal sentence squish	69
Ivan A. Sag
On the state of progress on progressives and statives	83
John Robert Ross
A fake NP squish	96

PROBLEMS IN VARIATION

David DeCamp
What do implicational scales imply?	141
Peter Trudgill
Phonological rules and sociolinguistic variation in Norwich English	149
Barbara Robson
Pan-lectal grammars and adult language change	164
Guy Carden
Disambiguation, favored readings, and variable rules	171
Ralph W. Fasold
The concept of 'earlier-later': More or less correct	183

OTHER STUDIES IN VARIATION

Lyn Kypriotaki
A study in dialect: Individual variation and dialect rules	198
Charles-James N. Bailey
Variation resulting from different rule orderings in English phonology	211
Larry Nessly
Nativization and variation in English phonology	253
James E. Hoard and Clarence Sloat
Variation in English stress placement	265
Ronald R. Butters
Acceptability judgments for double modals in Southern dialects	276

CREOLES

David M. Smith
Creolization and language ontogeny: A preliminary paradigm for comparing language socialization and language acculturation	287

Carol Odo
Focusing and defocusing in Hawaiian English	297
Richard R. Day
Tense neutralization in the Hawaiian post-Creole gradatum	306
Elizabeth Closs Traugott
Some thoughts on natural syntactic processes	313
Ricardo Otheguy
The Spanish Caribbean: A Creole perspective	323
VARIATION IN SEMANTIC REFERENCE
William Labov
The boundaries of words and their meanings	340