

Contents

Acknowledgements	vi
Introduction: 'What We Need Now...'	1
Part I Identifying the Cultural Politics of Disenfranchisement
1 Resistance and Rationalisation: Exile and the Inner Cities in Jeanette Winterson's The Passion	29
2 Rave to the Grave: Hanif Kureishi and the Failure of Left Culturalism	58
3 Politics Is Over: Flexibility and Freedom in J.G. Ballard's Late Dystopias	91
Part II Locating Urban Culture in Twenty-First-Century British Fiction
4 The New Culture Wars: Neo/liberal Pedagogy in Ian McEwan's Saturday and Kazuo Ishiguro's Never Let Me Go	131
5 Placing Politics: Home and the Right to Habitation in Monica Ali's Brick Lane and Zadie Smith's NW	170
6 Coda: The Postcultural City and the Postculturalist Left	212
Bibliography	220
Index	232