

Contents

Editor's Preface	ix
Preface	xi
Acknowledgements	xiii
PART I INTRODUCTION
1. General Approach to the Person and Psychotherapy	3
The Term Psychotherapy: What Does It Mean?	3
The Person in Personal Construct Therapy	4
The Aim of Personal Construct Psychotherapy	6
The Personal Construct Therapist	8
The Client in Personal Construct Therapy	13
The Relationship between Client and Therapist	14
The Psychotherapeutic Process	15
Summary	22
2. A Language for Personal Construct Systems	23
Constructive Alternativism: A Philosophical Position	23
Personal Construct Systems: Basic Characteristics	27
Organizational Structure of Construct Systems	31
Process and Function of Construct Systems	34
Individual Differences and Interpersonal Relations	37
Characteristics of Single Construct Dimensions and Systems of Constructs	40
Professional Constructs	45
Summary	54
PART II THE PSYCHOTHERAPEUTIC VENTURE AS A TOTAL EXPERIENCE
3. Anticipations	57
Client's Expectations	58
Assessment Procedure	58

Appraisal	75
Diagnosis	77
Summary.....	85
4. Investment	87
The Client–Counselor Relationship.....	87
The Complaint.....	95
Summary.....	100
5. Encounter	101
Useful Encounter Techniques	102
Encounter in the Process of Psychotherapy.....	109
Summary.....	116
6. Confirmation and Disconfirmation.....	118
Loosening	120
Tightening.....	129
Summary.....	145
7. Constructive Revision	146
Interpretations	147
Role of Anxiety and Guilt in Reconstruction	149
Reconstruction Through Experimentation	151
Summary.....	156
 PART III TECHNIQUES AND EVALUATION
8. Fixed Role Therapy	159
Design	160
Examples.....	162
Procedure of Enactment	164
Developments in Fixed Role Therapy	167
Advantages	168
Summary.....	168
9. Other Techniques	170
Group Therapies	170
Training and Supervision.....	178
Other Recent Developments	181
Summary.....	183
10. Conclusions and Evaluation	185
Personal Approach	186
Active versus Passive Approach.....	188
New Approach.....	189
Other Characteristics of the Approach	189
Progress and Future Developments	191
References	193
Author Index	198
Subject Index	200