

CONTENTS

Introduction: A Survey of Short Story Criticism in America Charles E. May	3
The Short Story: An Underrated Art Thomas A. Gullason	13
Stories Randall Jarrell	32
Review of Twice-Told Tales Edgar Allan Poe	45
The Philosophy of the Short-Story Brander Matthews	52
A Theory of the Short Story James Cooper Lawrence	60
The Modern Short Story: Retrospect H. E. Bates	72
The Short Story: A Proposed Definition Mary Rohrberger	80
The Lonely Voice Frank O'Connor	83
Is the Short Story Necessary? Elizabeth Janeway Shirley Hazzard John Cheever Harry Mark Petrakis	94
The Structure of the Modern Short Story A. L. Bader	107
A Critical Approach to the Short Story Theodore A. Stroud	116
What Makes a Short Story Short? Norman Friedman	131
The Short Story and the Novel Alberto Moravia	147
The Faber Book of Modern Short Stories Elizabeth Bowen	152

The Reading and Writing of Short Stories Eudora Welty	159
“The Flash of Fireflies” Nadine Gordimer	178
The Satiric Short Story: A Definition Gregory Fitz Gerald	182
What is an Initiation Story? Mordecai Marcus	189
The Lyric Short Story: The Sketch of a History Eileen Baldeshwiler	202
Notes on the American Short Story Today Richard Kostelanetz	214
A Selected, Annotated Bibliography of the Short Story	226