

CONTENTS

FOREWORD	ix
by George David Miller
PREFACE	xiii
by John Lachs
ACKNOWLEDGMENTS	xv
INTRODUCTION	1
ONE The Ontology of Prejudice	11
1. Prejudice Redefined	11
2. The Universal A Priori Nature of Prejudice	15
3. From Thought to Desire	19
4. The Unconscious Organization of Prejudice	21
5. Selfhood and Identification	29
6. The Dialectic of Identity	32
7. Is Racism Predisposed?	38
TWO The Phenomenology of Prejudice	45
1. Prejudice as Subjectivity	45
2. The Illogic of Prejudice	53
3. Prejudice in the Mode of Racial Identity	59
4. Black Identity as Bad Faith	61
5. White Identity as Bad Faith	64
6. The Dialectical Dilemma of Racial Identity	66
THREE The Search for Authenticity	69
1. Dasein and Fallenness	71
2. Dasein in Bad Faith	74
3. The False Self	77
4. The Call of Conscience	82
FOUR Dialectical Ethics	89
1. The Prejudicial Character of Ethics	89
2. Reformulation of Hegel's Ethical Thought	91
3. Hegel's Logic of the Dialectic	94
4. Hegel's Dialectical Method	95
5. The Operations of Thinking	97
6. The Dialectic of Being	100
7. The Essence of the Dialectic	102
8. Conceptual Understanding	104

	9. Prejudice as Determinate Negativity	107
FIVE	Ethics in Process	113
	1. Process Dialectics	113
	2. Relative Absolutism	116
	3. Functional Objectivity	120
	4. Absolute Relativism	128
	5. Ethical Subjectivism	134
	6. The Polarization of Ethical Valuation	137
	7. The Aufheben of Relativism and Absolutism	146
SIX	The Metaphysics of Morals	153
	1. Metaphysics as Ethical Process	153
	2. Process Reality	155
	3. Cosmological Freedom	163
	4. Before Good and Evil	166
	5. Toward the Sublime	173
	WORKS CITED	179
	ABOUT THE AUTHORS	191
	INDEX	193