

TABLE OF CONTENTS

CHAPTER 1. INTRODUCTION	1
CHAPTER 2. CONDITIONING	5
2.1. Simple Examples	5
2.2. Relevant Subsets	11
2.3. Ancillarity	13
2.4. Conditional Frequentist Procedures	14
2.4.1. Conditional Confidence	14
2.4.2. Estimated Confidence	16
2.5. Criticisms of Partial Conditioning	16
CHAPTER 3. THE LIKELIHOOD PRINCIPLE AND GENERALIZATIONS	19
3.1. Introduction	19
3.2. History of the Likelihood Principle	22
3.3. Birnbaum's Development - the Discrete Case	24
3.3.1. Evidence, Conditionality, and Sufficiency	24
3.3.2. Axiomatic Development	26
3.4. Generalizations Beyond the Discrete Case	28
3.4.1. Difficulties in the Nondiscrete Case	29
3.4.2. Evidence, Conditionality, and Sufficiency	31
3.4.3. The Relative Likelihood Principle	32
3.5. Prediction, Design, Nuisance Parameters, and the LP	36
3.5.1. Introduction	36
3.5.2. Unobserved Variables: Prediction and Design	37
3.5.3. Nuisance Variables and Parameters	41

3.6.	Criticisms of Birnbaum's Axiomatic Development	42
3.6.1.	The Model Assumption	43
3.6.2.	The Evidence Assumption	45
3.6.3.	The Weak Conditionality Principle	45
3.6.4.	The Sufficiency Principle	46
3.7.	Violation of the Likelihood Principle: Inadmissibility and Incoherency	50
3.7.1.	Introduction	50
3.7.2.	Decision Theoretic Evaluation	52
3.7.3.	Betting Evaluation	59
CHAPTER 4.	CONSEQUENCES AND CRITICISMS OF THE LIKELIHOOD PRINCIPLE AND THE RELATIVE LIKELIHOOD PRINCIPLE	65
4.1.	Incompatibility with Frequentist Concepts	65
4.1.1.	Introduction	65
4.1.2.	Objectivity	67
4.1.3.	Procedures for Nonspecialists	68
4.1.4.	Repeatability	70
4.1.5.	The Confidence Principle	71
4.2.	The Irrelevance of Stopping Rules	74
4.2.1.	Introduction	74
4.2.2.	The (Discrete) Stopping Rule Principle	75
4.2.3.	Positive Implications	77
4.2.4.	Criticisms	80
4.2.5.	Stopping Rules and Inadmissibility	83
4.2.6.	The General Stopping Rule Principle	86
4.2.7.	Informative Stopping Rules	88
4.3.	The Irrelevance of Censoring Mechanisms
4.3.1.	Introduction	90
4.3.2.	Fixed Censoring and Equivalent Censoring Mechanisms . . .	92
4.3.3.	Random Censoring	95
4.3.4.	Informative Censoring	103

4.4.	Significance Testing	104
4.4.1.	Conflict with the Likelihood Principle	104
4.4.2.	Averaging Over "More Extreme" Observations	105
4.4.3.	Testing a Single Null Model	109
4.4.4.	Conclusions	109.3
4.5.	Randomization Analysis	110
4.5.1.	Introduction	110
4.5.2.	Finite Population Sampling	112
4.5.3.	Randomization Tests	117
CHAPTER 5.	IMPLEMENTATION OF THE LIKELIHOOD PRINCIPLE	121
5.1.	Introduction	121
5.2.	Non-Bayesian Likelihood Methods	122
5.3.	Arguments for Bayesian Implementation	124
5.3.1.	General Considerations	124
5.3.2.	The Fraser-Monette-Ng, Stone, and Stein Examples	127
5.4.	Robust Bayesian Analysis	136
5.5.	Conclusions	141
