

Contents

Notes on Contributors	vii
Prefatory Note Victor A. Kramer	xi
Introduction Carl R. Kropf	xiii
On the Critical Character: Reading and Writing in the Poststructuralist Age G. Douglas Atkins	1
When the Past Presses the Present: Shillings, Cyder, Malts, and Wine Kevin L. Cope	15
Voyeurism as Entrapment in Swift's Poetry Louise K. Barnett	45
Quests for Order and the Perils of Discontinuity: Some Readings of Strephon and Chloe and A Description of the Morning A. B. England	63
The Myth of Narcissus in Swift's Travels Christopher Fox	89

The Danger of Reading Swift: The Double Binds of Gulliver's Travels Frederik N. Smith	109
Lures, Limetwigs, and the Swiftian Swindle John R. Clark	131
The Smiler with the Knife: Covert Aggression in Some Restoration Epilogues Anthony Kaufman	143
Ideology and Dramatic Form: The Case of Wycherley James Thompson	159
Entrapment in Eighteenth-Century Drama from Congreve to Goldsmith William J. Burling	177
"Inordinate Sallies of Desire" Restrained and "Unutterable Rapture Possessed": The Emplotment of the Reader in Roderick Random John P. Zomchick	201
Confinement and Entrapment in Fielding's Journal of a Voyage to Lisbon Melinda Alliker Rabb	229
Selective Bibliography: Reader Entrapment Carl R. Kropf	261
Index	263