

Contents

Acknowledgments ix

Note on the Text xi

Introduction: The Kingdom of Our Own Language 1

1 Two Versions of Gothic 19

    Barbarous Tongues 25

    The Politics of Chivalric Romance 40

    A Miltonic Revision 59

2 Writing the Law 63

    Plans for an English Corpus Juris 73

    Reporting the Unwritten Law 78

    The Form of Coke's Institutes 88

    Uncouth Learning and Professional Pride 101

3 The Land Speaks 105

    Maps and the Signs of Authority 108

    From Court to Country 125

    The Ideology of Place and Particularity 131

    The Muse on Progress 139

    Chorography and Whiggery 146

4 The Voyages of a Nation 149

    Class, Nation, and Camões 155

    Commodity and Vent 163

    Merchants, Gentlemen, and Their Genres 171

    Spain's Tyrannical Ambition 181

    Posthumous Writings and Rewritings 187

5 Staging Exclusion 193

    Popular Revolt 204

    Carnival and Clowns 215

    Losing the Common Touch 228

    Purged from Barbarism 240

6	Apocalypitics and Apologetics	247
	Antichrist and the Suffering Elect	254
	Defending the Ecclesiastical Polity	269
	In the Body of the Beast	283

	Afterword: Engendering the Nation-State	295
--	---	-----

	Notes	303
--	-------	-----

	Index	351
--	-------	-----