

Contents

Preface ix

I TEXTS

- 1 What Was New About the Novel? 3
- 2 Novels and "the Novel": The Critical Tyranny of Formal Definition 29

II CONTEXTS

- 3 Readers Reading 61
- 4 Looking Forward: Time 89
- 5 Looking Forward: Place 110
- 6 Looking Backward: A World Well Lost? 138

III PRE-TEXTS

- 7 Journalism: The Commitment to Contemporaneity 167
- 8 "Strange, but True": Fact, Certainty, and the Desire for Wonder 195
- 9 Didacticism: The Biases of Presentism and the Question of Pleasure 225

10	Directions of Didacticism: The Guide Tradition	248
11	Didacticism: The Contexts of Concern	274
12	The Self and the World: Private Histories	303
13	The Self Observed: Private Vices, Public Benefits	324
14	The Self in the World: History, Biography, and Travel Books	338
	Notes	357
	Index	405