

Contents

Introduction: To Wander 'out of the Common Road'	1
--------------------------------------------------	---

PART I. STRATEGIC SELF-SOUNDING:
VOICES RAISED FROM THE DEAD

1. The 'Motion in Corruption' of Donne's Anniversaries	51
---------------------------------------------------------------	----

PART II. SOUNDING INTERIOR GARDENS AT MID-CENTURY

2. Marvell's Watery Maze at Nun Appleton	97
3. 'Lights Framed Like Nets' in Sir Thomas Browne's Garden	126
4. Eve's 'Grateful Digressions' and the Birth of Reflection	165

PART III. STRATEGIC SELF-SOUNDING:
MYSTERY, MALICE, AND MASTERY OF A VOICE

5. Feminine Disguise in The Hind and the Panther	215
6. The Obscure Progress of Satire in Dryden's Late Preface	245

Epilogue: Wandered too far? Swift's Monstrous Voice	278
-----------------------------------------------------	-----

Bibliography	306
---------------------	-----

Index	335
--------------	-----