

Contents

Acknowledgments	page ix
Editions and abbreviations	xi
Introduction	1
PART ONE THE WILL TO VALUE
1 In pursuit of the ethical	13
The best metaphysical road	13
The Romantic humanists	14
Ethics, politics, and modern criticism	22
2 British Romanticism, Coleridge, and European moral traditions	39
General observations	39
Egoism and natural affections	45
Sensibility, associationism, and language	53
Rationalism and Enlightenment	69
Kantian formalism	74
Post-Kantian idealism: Schiller, Fichte, and Schelling	81
Post-Kantian idealism: Hegel	97
Self-realizationism	113
Hedonistic utilitarianism	130
Modern terms and Romantic metaethics	139
PART TWO AGENT, POWER, SCENE
3 Blake: the poetry of violence	157
Poetry and ethics	160
Act and energy	166
Values in Eden and elsewhere	178
4 The tragic Wordsworth	206
The poet of feeling	207

CONTENTS

The heart of loss	213
The chastening of intellect	220
Being and doing	224
Retreat from the ethical	244
5 De Quincey and Romantic decadence	249
In the labyrinth	250
The lure of orthodoxy	263
PART THREE THE PRESSURE OF REALITY	279
6 Shelley and the poetry of life	281
Shelley and first-generation Romantics	282
Skepticism, sublimity, and language	284
Figures of love and imagination	296
The tempered heart	303
Reforming the world	311
7 Hazlitt: common sense of a dissenter	333
Passionate common sense	334
Sympathies and antipathies	339
From ethics to politics	353
The right-wing imagination	362
Love's nightmares	371
8 Keats and the ethics of immanence	380
Poetic onanism	380
Act and activity	384
Immanent value and the nihilism of transcendence	387
Beyond the Pleasure Thermometer	390
Buffeting with circumstance	399
The original sin in poetry	402
9 Byron: the world as glorious blunder	417
The authenticity of performance	417
Ethical poetry	421
Antipodes and restless action	425
The controlless core	437
10 The ethical bearing of literature	450
Select bibliography	464
Index	477