

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements
Preface	7
I. Home is neither here nor there	13
1. The identity of home	13
2. Homelessness	15
3. Exiles and expatriates	17
4. The locality of home	21
5. The freedom of exile	25
6. Conclusions	27
II. A foot in both jungles	33
(a) Katherine Mansfield	33
1. The little colonial	33
2. The life of an exile	34
3. Home thoughts	45
4. Art and self-development	53
5. Exile and home	60
(b) V.S. Naipaul	65
1. The outline	65
2. A house in the national chaos	68
3. A home in writing	83
4. A free state	86
(c) Ngugi wa Thiong'o	92
1. Exile and Ngugi	92
2. Three novels of history	100
3. A political novel	108
4. The pattern of growth	119
III. Private voices, public benefits	122
1. The Pattern Extended: Jean Rhys, Doris Lessing, Patrick White	122
2. Ego and identity	135
3. Private freedoms	139
4. The pitfalls of determinism	143
Notes	147
Select bibliography	154