

CONTENTS

Preface ix

Acknowledgments xv

- 1 Introduction 1
David A. Chiriboga

I

STRESS AND ADAPTATION

- 2 Childhood Stress and Adaptation to Divorce: A Shaping Condition 13
Linda S. Catron and David A. Chiriboga
- 3 Divorce Stress and Adaptation 38
David A. Chiriboga and Linda S. Catron
- 4 Coping Strategies in Divorce 74
David A. Chiriboga

II

PERSPECTIVES ON TRANSITIONS

- 5 Passage through Divorce: A Transitions Perspective 97
Linda S. Catron and David A. Chiriboga
- 6 Passage through Divorce: Timing Issues 125
David A. Chiriboga and Linda S. Catron

viii CONTENTS

III

VIEWS OF THE SELF AND OTHERS

- 7 The Self-Concept of Divorcing Persons 151
Cathy Birtley Fenn, David A. Chiriboga, and Linda S. Catron
- 8 Views of the Other: Issues of Self-Image and Identification 174
Ann Coho, David A. Chiriboga and Linda S. Catron

IV

CONTRIBUTING FACTORS

- 9 Social Supports in the Context of Divorce 195
Leah Friedman, David A. Chiriboga and Linda S. Catron
- 10 Who Leaves Whom: The Importance of Control 224
H. B. Wilder and David A. Chiriboga
- 11 Minority Issues in the Study of Divorce 248
Barbara Yee, David A. Chiriboga and Linda S. Catron
- 12 Risk Factors in Divorce: A Life Course Perspective 280
David A. Chiriboga

References 293

Index 313