

Contents

List of Illustrations	ix
Acknowledgments	xi
Introduction: Punctuating Disequilibrium	1
Part I Tailoring the Gothic Myth
1 Bearing Repetition	23
Invading Forces	30
Out of the Gothic Past	35
The Curve of History	37
Back to the Future	44
Part II Retailing the Gothic Myth
2 When Everything New is Old Again
Horace Walpole's Heroic Bequests	49
Family Lessons	53
Family Values	57
Family Legacy	67
3 The Prince in the Pauper: Clara Reeve
and The Old English Baron	70
Colonial Betrayal Gothicized	72
Bringing the Colony Home	77
Circulation At Home and Abroad	82
Restricting the Arm of the Law	87
Retrieving the Character of the Nation	91
4 Radcliffe, Revolution, and the Romance
of Heroism, 1789–94	96
The Revolution in the Press	98
Undivided Loyalties: the Brotherly
Nation of Athlin and Dunbayne	101
Civil War Civilized: Inheriting the
Nation in The Sicilian	109
Incorporating the Father in The Romance of the Forest	110
Trading Places: the Mystery of Udolpho	117

Part III Tailgating on the Gothic Myth

5	Speaking Shadows	127
	Spectacular Honor in The Monk	131
	Spectral Honor in The Italian	141
	Possessive Honor in The Midnight Assassin	150
6	No Child's Play: the Gothic Chapbooks	157
	Circulating Ownership	158
	Encircling Time	161
	Restricting Circulation	165
	Fragmenting Circulation	175
	Scopic Circulation	186
	Concentric Circulation	196
7	From Innkeepers to Puppet Masters
	Staging the {Heroic} Author	207
	Cryptic Encounters; or, the Nation as Book	208
	Editing and Editorializing the Nation
	Heroic Gothic 'Editors'	210
	Corporate Heroism	223
8	The Afterlife of the Gothic Nation	232
	Notes	239
	Works Cited	267
	Index	283