

Contents

Acknowledgements	x
1 INTRODUCTION	1
The Essential Ingredients of a Theory of Capitalist Exploitation	2
Utopian Critiques of Political Economy	3
Synopsis of the Succeeding Chapters	5
2 ROBERT OWEN	8
The Social Costs of the Industrial Revolution	8
The Radical Reaction to Industrialisation	10
Owen as Industrialist and Economist	10
Owen's Career as a Social Reformer	12
Conclusion: Owen's Influence	17
3 THE RICARDIAN SOCIALISTS	19
The Basic Propositions of Ricardian Socialist Theory	19
Ricardo's Labour Theory of Value	21
The Ricardian Socialist Theory of Capitalist Exploitation	22
Further Items of Ricardian Socialist Doctrine	26
The Reaction to the Ricardian Socialists: The Origin of Profits Controversy	28
The Problems Involved in Ricardian Socialist Theory	31
Conclusion	34
4 THE ECONOMICS OF MARX: THE BACKGROUND	36
The Economic Interpretation of History	37
The Theory of Social Class	42
Conclusion	52

5	THE ECONOMICS OF MARX: TOOLS OF ANALYSIS	54
	Marx's Reformulation of the Labour Theory of Value	54
	Marx's Theory of Exploitation	61
	Capital Accumulation	66
	The Trend towards Monopoly	68
	The Falling Rate of Profit	71
	The Industrial Reserve Army of Labour	76
	The Immiseration of the Proletariat	80
	Alienation	84
	The Trade Cycle	89
	Marx's Economic System: An Overview	93
6	FABIANISM	98
	Capitalist Exploitation and the Fabian Theory of Rent	99
	The Fabians and Economic Crises	104
	The Transition to Socialism	105
	The Fabian Vision of a Socialist Economy	107
	The Fabians' Political Strategy	109
	Conclusion	111
	Appendix: European Revisionism	113
7	SYNDICALISM AND GUILD SOCIALISM	116
	The Political Background Conducive to Syndicalism	116
	Sorel and Syndicalist Theory	118
	Syndicalism in Britain	120
	The Political Economy of the Guild Socialists	121
	The Recent Revival of Interest in Guild Socialism, and the Yugoslavian Experience	127
	Conclusion	130
8	NEOCLASSICAL CRITIQUES OF CAPITALISM	132
	General Equilibrium, 'Waiting' and Exploitation	133
	Monopoly, Monopsony and Discrimination	134
	Utility Theory and Egalitarianism	137
	Limitations of the Neoclassical Market Paradigm	139
	Conclusion	145

9	SCHUMPETER'S THEORY OF THE ADVENT OF SOCIALSIM	147
	Schumpeter's Theory of Capitalist Breakdown	147
	The Role of Inflation in the Transition to Socialism	153
	Schumpeter's Strategy for Socialist Transition	154
	Schumpeter and Capitalist Breakdown: An Evaluation	157
	Conclusion	159
	Appendix: The Economic Philosophy of Galbraith	160
10	THE MODERN REVIVAL OF RADICAL POLITICAL ECONOMY	163
	The Capital Controversy	163
	Reswitching and Capital Reversing	167
	The Implications of the Capital Controversy and the Reswitching Debate	170
	Alternative Theories of Distribution	171
	The Policy Implications of Recent Radical Analysis	178
	Employee Investment Funds: A Mechanism for Socialist Transition?	180
	Conclusion	182
11	CONCLUSION	185
	Bibliography	188
	Name Index	193
	Subject Index	196