

Contents

Preface .....	xi
Chapter One: Introduction
Realism and idealism / The moral design / Well-defined examples of moral design / Illness in the moral design / Suffering / Conventional types and emblematic figures / Esthetic design / Fairy-tale design .....	3
Chapter Two: Women
Woman's place / Woman as saint / Griselda / Destructive women / The Magdalene, or Fallen Woman / Magdalene redeemed / Sentimental type / Summary .....	34
Chapter Three: Male Types
Jacob / The Samaritan / The Poor Scholar .....	79
Chapter Four: Marriage
Background / Criticism of commercial marriages / Cophetua / Marriage endings .....	105
Chapter Five: Coincidence
Coincidence and plot / Providence / Destiny .....	126
Chapter Six: Duelling
The social reality / The literary convention .....	142
Chapter Seven: Deathbeds
Attitude toward dying / Deathbed scenes in literature / The child / Conclusion .....	156
Chapter Eight: Swindles
Money and society / Finance in literature / Later attitudes	172

Chapter Nine: Madness
Insanity: an overview / Madness in literature /
Exploitation of the theme / Meredith / Tennyson /
Later uses of the convention / Summary . . . . .	193
Chapter Ten: The Return
Conventional views / Morality of the return /
Elaboration of the convention / The convict's return /
Dickens / Tennyson's use of the return / Later variations of the return convention / Deeper considerations / The prodigal son . . . . .	216
Chapter Eleven: The Orphan
Dickens' use of the convention / Variations of the convention / Deeper meanings / Reversing the convention . . . . .	250
Chapter Twelve: Inheritance
Aspects of the convention / Wilkie Collins / The inheritance and moral worth / Inheritance and the social condition . . . . .	268
Chapter Thirteen: Disguise
The device / Disguise in the nineteenth century / Disguise in Victorian literature / Deeper functions of disguise / Good and evil in disguise / Pervasiveness of disguise / Dickens / Charlotte Brontë and Wilkie Collins / Subtle versions: George Meredith / Metaphysical disguise / The desire for freedom from masks / The multiple self [Hypocrisy] Fables of the hidden self [Life as illusion / Anonymity / Clothing / Cosmetics /
Conclusion . . . . .	289
Chapter Fourteen: Gypsies Background / Scott and the literary tradition of the early nineteenth century / George Borrow / The gypsy convention in later Victorian literature / Later nineteenth-century investigators / Other literature of the late nineteenth century / Conclusion . . . . .	362

Chapter Fifteen: Memory

✓ Memory: an overview ✗ The idea of memory in the nineteenth century / Tennyson's use of memory / The attractive past: memory and hope / New concepts of memory / Memory as literary convention / Lionel Johnson (Reaction to illusion) / Hope and memory / ✗ Summary ..... 401

Chapter Sixteen: The Occult

Victorian attitude / Bulwer-Lytton / The occult in other literature / Dreams / Victorian studies of the occult / The occult in later Victorian literature / ✗ Summary ..... 440

Chapter Seventeen: Conclusion

Review of literary conventions / Nineteenth-century mode of stylization / Nineteenth-century restlessness / Social dissatisfaction and desire for escape / Optimism and pessimism / Conclusion ..... 474

Notes ..... 493
 Bibliographical Essay ..... 530
 Index ..... 537