

Contents

INTRODUCTION	I
1. NATURE'S INVALIDS: THE MEDICALIZATION OF WOMANHOOD
The 'problem' of woman: interpretation and therapeutics	8
Disappointment and decline: Shirley , Adela Cathcart , Deerbrook	27
From passion to paralysis: hysterical pathology and Dickens's women	43
2. NERVOUS SENSIBILITY AND IDEALS OF MANLINESS
The disorder of literary men	59
Hypersensitive heroes: The Professor and 'The Lifted Veil'	78
3. THE 'UNMAPPED COUNTRY': PHYSIOLOGY, CONSCIOUSNESS, AND THE MYSTERIES OF THE INNER LIFE
Basil and fictions of delirium	110
The 'mystic boundary' between body and mind: George Eliot and G. H. Lewes	132
'Contrary tendencies': physiological psychology in Daniel Deronda	141

4. NEW WOMEN AND NEURASTHENIA: NERVOUS DEGENERATION AND THE 1890s
‘Aberrant passions, and unaccountable antipathies’	163
Rebellion and recklessness in The Whirlpool of modern life	186
Refinement and reversion in Jude the Obscure	199
CONCLUSION	215
SELECT BIBLIOGRAPHY	219
INDEX	230