

Contents

| | |
|---|------|
| Acknowledgements | viii |
| Abbreviations and Terminology | x |
| Introduction | 1 |
| Part I Globalization and Theatre: Definitions and Contexts | |
| 1 Globalization and Irish Theatre | 9 |
| 2 Globalizing Irish Theatre: Brian Friel's Dancing at Lughnasa , 1990/1999 | 31 |
| Part II Globalization and National Theatres | |
| 3 Globalizing National Theatre: Sean O'Casey's The Plough and the Stars , 1926/1991/2002 | 59 |
| 4 Globalizing the Brand: Dion Boucicault's The Shaughraun , 1874/2004 | 79 |
| Part III Globalization and Cultural Exchanges | |
| 5 Globalizing Authorship: Martin McDonagh, 1996/2003 | 101 |
| 6 Globalization and Cultural Exchange: Angels in America in Dublin | 128 |
| Part IV Imagining Globalization | |
| 7 Globalizing Gender and Dramatic Form | 165 |
| 8 Branding Identity: Irish Theatre in 2005 | 188 |
| Conclusion: Our Global Theatre | 216 |
| Notes | 224 |
| Texts Cited | 231 |
| Index | 242 |