

Contents

| | | |
|---------|--|---|
| Preface | | 1 |
|---------|--|---|

PART ONE

Introduction

| | | |
|-----------|--------------------------------------|----|
| Chapter 1 | The Scope of Anglo-Irish Literature | 5 |
| Chapter 2 | The Growth of Anglo-Irish Literature | 15 |
| Chapter 3 | A Sense of Ireland | 26 |

PART TWO

i. Views from the Big House

| | | |
|-----------|---------------------|----|
| Chapter 4 | Maria Edgeworth | 41 |
| Chapter 5 | Somerville and Ross | 50 |
| Chapter 6 | George Moore | 61 |

ii. Views from smaller houses

| | | |
|---|------------------|----|
| Chapter 7 | William Carleton | 72 |
| Chapter 8 | Frank O'Connor | 79 |
| Chapter 9 | Patrick Kavanagh | 89 |
| Supplement to Part Two. Notes on some other nineteenth century writers: poetry, prose, drama. | | 98 |

PART THREE

A Group of Dubliners

| | | |
|------------|----------------|-----|
| Chapter 10 | James Joyce | 109 |
| Chapter 11 | James Stephens | 121 |
| Chapter 12 | Sean O'Casey | 132 |
| Chapter 13 | Austin Clarke | 143 |
| Chapter 14 | Flann O'Brien | 153 |

PART FOUR
Yeats and Synge

| | | |
|---|-----------------------|-----|
| Chapter 15 | William Butler Yeats | 169 |
| Chapter 16 | John Millington Synge | 182 |
| Supplement to Part Four. Notes on some other twentieth century writers: poetry, drama, prose. | | 195 |

PART FIVE
Some Living Writers

| | | |
|--|----------------|-----|
| Chapter 17 | Sean O'Faolain | 209 |
| Chapter 18 | Mary Lavin | 216 |
| Chapter 19 | Francis Stuart | 225 |
| Chapter 20 | Brian Moore | 236 |
| Chapter 21 | John McGahern | 245 |
| Chapter 22 | John Hewitt | 253 |
| Chapter 23 | Seamus Heaney | 261 |
| Supplement to Part Five. Notes on some other living writers: poetry, drama, prose. | | 269 |
| Select Bibliography | | 281 |
| Index | | 292 |