

Table of Contents

Acknowledgments	iv
Introduction	1
Chapter 1: Masculinity and Performance	5
Chapter 2: Canonical Forefathers	19
Eugene O’Neill: Father of American Drama	21
Tennessee Williams: Masquerades of Masculinity	24
Arthur Miller: Portrait of the Common Man	27
Amiri Baraka: Angry Young Men	30
Chapter 3: Sam Shepard: The Eternal Patriarchal Return	35
Dueling Identities: Tooth of Crime and True West	42
Fathers and Sons: Curse of the Starving Class and Buried Child	50
Women and Male Identity: Fool for Love and A Lie of the Mind	57
Afterward: States of Shock	66
Chapter 4: David Mamet: The Search for Masculine Space	71
The Search for Selfhood: Edmond	76
Apprenticeships to Manhood: Sexual Perversity in Chicago and Lakeboat	80
Competition for Identity: Glengarry Glen Ross	85
Men at Work: American Buffalo and Speed-the-Plow	89
Fueling the Fires: Oleanna	94
Engendering Language	98
Chapter 5: David Rabe: Men Under Fire	103
In the Shadow of War: The Vietnam Trilogy	104
Media Images of Manhood: The Basic Training of Pavlo Hummel and Sticks and Bones	106
In the Cadre Room: Streamers	113
Myths of Male Friendship I: Goose and Tomtom Play Dress-Up	117
Myths of Male Friendship II: Hurlyburly	125

Chapter 6: August Wilson: Performing Black Masculinity	133
Black Masculinity	137
Masculinity and the Tradition of African American Drama	140
Blues Men: Ma Rainey's Black Bottom	143
Family Men: Fences , Joe Turner's Come and Gone , and Piano Lesson	147
Men in Groups: Two Trains Running	153
Black and White Masculinity	157
Chapter 7: Other Voices, Other Men: Reinventing Masculinity	161
Bibliography	171
Index	181